

Harding Reiterates His Intent to Veto Pending Bonus Bill

President Peaved at Senate Failure to Heed Previous Statements, White House Callers Report.

DEMANDS PROVISION TO RAISE REVENUE

Expected Now That If Measure Is Brought Before Senate It Will Be Laid on Shelf.

Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 24.—(By Constitution Bureau.)—President Harding after refusing for over a week to discuss with senate leaders plans for disposing of bonus legislation, has at last broken his silence and declared himself unalterably opposed to the measure in its present form. He will veto the McCumber bill unless some provision is made for raising the revenue necessary to meet the expenditures involved.

This is but a reiteration of past declarations made by the president and was told, not to republican leaders of the senate, who have unsuccessfully tried to discuss the subject with him ever since his return from Marion, but to private callers at the white house. Mr. Harding has as yet refrained from taking up the legislative program with members of the senate.

Callers at the white house found the president greatly peaved over what he is said to have described as the inability of senators to understand his viewpoint. He is reported to have asserted with a great deal of force that his position on the bonus question had been disclosed several times before, from which he was at a loss to understand why the subject should be referred to him again.

Harding Irritated.
The president is reported as having said in effect that he wanted it understood once and for all that he intended to veto the McCumber bill or any other measure which failed to provide for the expenditures ensuing, and that so far as he was concerned, that was final.

From President Harding's irritation, as recited by visitors, some inkling of his reticence over the legislative program is manifested. Observers now believe that because senate republicans, including Senator Lodge, the majority leader, refused to take cognizance of his former statements regarding the bonus and asked for a conference on that measure, the president has refused to consider the plans. Having clearly outlined his position on the question, he believes it is now up to the senate to take whatever course they wish. He is not inclined to further discuss the subject.

In other words, as seen by observers, it is problematical whether Mr. Harding will consent to be brought in on the legislative tangle.

Meanwhile the president's latest statement has thrown bonus advocates up in the air. Having never given out a formal statement setting out his views on the question, but merely expressing himself to a few intimate friends and officials, some kind of a vague satisfaction rested in the bonus advocates' belief that the president could eventually be brought around to their way of thinking. With today's news reporting the chief executive has not only irrevocably opposed to the bonus as it stands, but considerably irritated because he has not been understood, a changed aspect has come over him.

Advocates Excited.
In the face of this, bonus advocates, fearful lest the bonus may be brought squarely before the senate this week by a motion to postpone the bill indefinitely, are much excited and have sent an urgent appeal to Senator La Follette to return to the capital at once. At the Wisconsin senator's office today, however, it was stated that his presence was not looked for soon, Senator La Follette being engaged in a heated campaign for re-nomination in the primary of his state.

Should La Follette and other leaders of the bonus idea arrive on the scene, the steps taken would be about as follows:

A motion would be made to lay aside the tariff for a few days to consider the bonus. In the likely event that this plan would be repudiated the probabilities are that Senator Lodge, or some other republican leader would then move to postpone the measure indefinitely. The motion would be given enough support, it is believed, in view of the president's unalterable position. All of which would end the discussion.

McCumber Bill Focus.
Practically every democratic senator in favor of a bonus is opposed to the McCumber bill, so should the measure come before the senate it will be bombarded from all sides and crushed by amendments.

Senator Hitchcock, a strong bonus advocate, is bitterly opposed to the loan provision in the McCumber bill.

SEEK TO ABOLISH OFFICE OF LAWYER FOR RAIL BOARD

Senators Boykin and Walker Announce That They Will Introduce Bill Tuesday Morning.

GRADE CROSSING BILL DEFEATED IN SENATE

Numerous Amendments Offered and Measure Meets With Little Support in Upper House.

Senators Boykin and Walker announced Monday that they will introduce in the senate Tuesday a bill to abolish the office of attorney for the state railroad commission. A similar bill is pending in the house.

The bill of the two members will provide that the attorney-general shall discharge the duties heretofore performed by the attorney for the railroad commission.

Mr. Boykin stated that the law of Georgia requires at least one member of the railroad commission to be an attorney and that at present there are two lawyers on the commission. In view of the attorney membership on the committee, said Mr. Boykin, he believed the office of special attorney is useless.

Defeat of Senator Snow's grade crossing bill featured the session of the senate Monday. The senator stated that he introduced it at the request of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, whose members said they were sick and tired of killing people at grade crossings.

The measure was hotly attacked by members opposing its passage as a proposed law to relieve the railroad companies from liability in case of accident. The bill provided that motorists approaching a rail crossing must bring their automobiles to a full stop 50 feet from the railway tracks.

Vigorous attacks were made upon the measure by Senators Wohlwend, Pope, Kimzey, Nix and others.

In a spirit of levity two members offered amendments which brought a big laugh from the senators.

Senator Bond, of the 30th, amended the bill to provide that "each driver shall not only stop, but shall walk up and down the track one mile each way to see if any sound of an approaching train, and that all members of the bovine family be required to stop and moo twice before crossing any railroad track."

Senator Johns, of the 27th, amended the measure further providing that "if the company shall erect at the several crossings lookout posts 100 feet high, with ladders reaching to the crow's nest, the driver of the car need not walk up and down the track to look and listen, but may instead climb to the top of the lookout post and look in all directions; in which case he shall not be guilty of any crime."

Senator Nix declared that while the amendments were foolish they had as much merit as the original bill, and he urged that it be killed.

As reported back by the railroad committee the bill was amended at the suggestion of Attorney Robert Alston, railroad representative, to provide that in the event a motorist failed to stop in observance of the law, this fact would in no wise relieve the railroad company from liability for damage.

This amendment was attacked by Senator Wohlwend as a "joke." He said the railroads would readily find a way to circumvent this part of the law.

The senate refusing to agree to the favorable report of the committee, automatically killed the bill.

Cranes of Mystery Take Up Their Abode On Outskirts of Rome

Rome, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Crane-like birds observed in the Texas valley community several weeks ago, apparently have taken up their abode on the Berry schools' property in the vicinity of the Mountain Farm school near Lavender mountain. Seventeen of the birds have been seen in a flock at the foot of this mountain for several days.

What species of bird they are has not been determined. Dr. Wallace Rogers, pastor of the First Methodist church, and an authority on birds, believes they are snowy herons, or egrets, although these birds are not common in this section. Berry school authorities hope to keep the birds on the place, and have requested all persons to refrain from frightening them.

Lure of Romance Calls Older Folk To Love Lottery

Lonely Widows and Widowers Flood Mail of Lovers' Co-operative Union.

Hammononton, N. J., July 24.—The thrill of new romance is accelerating the heart action of widows and widowers as far away as Texas, where news has penetrated of the love lottery to be held here on August 16, in the hope of effecting happy unions between lonely persons beyond the age of flapping.

When Lewis S. Conley, ex-ball player, now the owner of a cigar store, and a widower with nothing against matrimony, conceived the notion of holding the lottery he had no idea that so many people were willing to take another chance. He simply wanted to pair off the widows and widowers, of whom there are an extraordinary proportion in Hammononton. But now the mail of the lovers' co-operative union has become so great that it has been necessary to name a secretary and establish an office.

The majority of the applications for information have the sound of utter loneliness and of sincere longing to be mated again. Therefore a form questionnaire is to be sent to each one on July 26, wherein applicants must record their physical description, age, religious beliefs and other helpful information, including their ideas of a wonderful time.

By matching up the questionnaires, particularly as to tastes, amusements and religion, it is believed that some couples may be guided straight to each other's arms for the straight without being put through the lottery.

Some of the widows confess to being more effective at the cook stove than before the mirror, and there is a vein of candor also in the matter of stating ages, for many of the girls confess to being beyond forty.

One widow wrote that she was left with a son. "But," she added, "he brings home a wife, and I am sad and alone. I am a good housekeeper, and would be true to any loyal man."

LARGER FEDERAL BUILDING PLANNED

Senator W. J. Harris Will Work to Have Postoffice Enlarged to Twice Its Present Size.

Enlargement of the Atlanta post-office building to twice its present size will be sought at the next session of congress, according to announcement in Atlanta, Monday, by Senator William J. Harris.

After making a personal tour of the federal building Monday morning, Senator Harris announced that he will introduce the appropriation bill necessary for its enlargement.

The senator seemed to be greatly impressed with congested conditions at the federal building, and appeared confident that the appropriation will be secured.

"When I was secretary to the late Senator Clay, he got a bill through the senate to build the present federal building," Senator Harris said. "The appropriation, I think, was $1,000,000. To properly care for the departments now housed in the postoffice building, and to provide adequate office space for future expansion and enlargement of various departments, a building double the size of the present structure will not be too large."

At present the lack of space in the federal building forces the postoffice department to lease a building on Poplar street for some of its activities. The annex houses the sixie, or dead letter, office, and various attaches of the division headquarters.

For some time there has existed a need for more space for the post-office. During last year it was found necessary to build a mezzanine floor to care for the directory searching department and other divisions of the Atlanta office.

Police Join Crowd Who "Merely Wanted To See Train Go By"

Birmingham, Ala., July 24.—When police answered a riot call at the Louisville and Nashville railroad shops at Boyles early this morning they found a crowd of approximately 250 men, women and children armed with sticks and a mighty suave spokesman. They were waiting for a work train taking morning for the shops.

"What's the trouble boys?" Chief of Police Fred McDuff called, piling out of an automobile.

"We're just plain, simple country folk who want to see the train go by," the leader of the crowd replied. "That's all right?"

"Fine," said the chief. "We want to see it too."

So they all watched the train go by. There was no disorder.

HOUSE WILL PASS TODAY ON CAPITOL REMOVAL EXPENSE

Senate Resolution Calls for Detailed Expense Accounts From the Two Organizations.

BATTLE WILL CONTINUE ON TAX EQUALIZATION

Repealers Win on Test Monday and They Will Make Every Effort to Get Measure to Vote.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
Continuation of a filibuster against the passage of a bill repealing the tax equalization law and the consideration by the house of a senate resolution calling on Macon and Atlanta capital removal organizations to submit detailed expense accounts of their campaign for removal and against removal will be outstanding features of the Tuesday session of the Georgia assembly.

With an effective cloture rule or "gag rule" working in the house, it was predicted that the house filibuster on the tax equalization repeal bill will not be sustained as long as the recent filibuster in the senate over the same measure. On a test vote Monday the supporters of the repeal measure won by a vote of 82 to 50, and it is freely predicted that the repealers will win in the house if they can get the measure to a vote.

The senate resolution passed last week calling on the capital removal organizations of Atlanta and Macon to submit their expense accounts was introduced last year by Senator Lassiter and others. It was placed on the table last year, but a few days ago Senator Lassiter called it up in the senate, and it was passed. It was sent over to the house, and will come up Tuesday under the head of senate business unless some move is made to continue it.

Says Macon Is Ready.
John W. Hammond, Atlanta newspaper man, who has been one of the leaders of Macon's fight for the capitol, declared Monday the Macon organization is ready to submit its expense account if the senate resolution is adopted by the house.

"A careful record has been kept of every cent spent by the Macon association," Mr. Hammond said. "We are ready to come before the legislature and submit a complete certified copy of all expenditures for all purposes and to give a list of the names of those receiving such funds."

Frank Weldon, representing the Atlanta organization, said he knew of no expense account kept by the Atlanta organization opposing capitol removal, and said he doubted if a complete account is in existence.

"As far as I know a detailed expense account showing each item was not kept by the Atlanta organization," Mr. Weldon said.

Fight on Tax Law.
The fight over the tax equalization law may tie up one legislature for several days if the leaders of the filibuster succeed in breaking down the "gag rule" established Monday limiting debate on the measure. Representative Arnold, of Clay, is leading the forces seeking to delay action on the bill.

At the Monday session Representative Arnold introduced a resolution calling on the senate to state officially to the house whether or not a bill providing for the repeal of the tax equalization law was defeated in that branch of the legislature. This resolution was voted down by a vote of 62 to 59, and the repealers asserted this was a test of strength, and showed the real sentiment of the house on the equalization measure.

Representative Arnold's resolution renewed discussion of the point raised last week to the effect that a bill once defeated in one branch of the legislature cannot be considered again by that branch at the same session except by consent of two-thirds of the members of the branch defeating the bill. The claim is made that the senate having defeated the bill to repeal the tax equalization law by a majority of one vote cannot again consider such a bill at this session unless by a two-thirds vote. The point also was made that the senate having defeated the bill the house could not consider it. Speaker Neill overruled this contention last week.

Deadlock Expected.
If the house passes the repeal bill and it goes back to the senate another deadlock in that body is expected. The claim is made by opponents of repeal that the senate cannot consider the house bill except by a two-thirds vote. The repealers claim they have a majority in the senate but not a two-thirds majority. It was stated Monday that President Clay of the senate probably will rule that the senate can consider the house bill and will then submit his ruling to the senate for approval. By this means a majority of the senate could vote to sustain the president in his ruling and thereafter a majority vote could pass the house bill, according to leaders.

The rule adopted by the house limiting speeches to 20 minutes during

Row Over Gallon Of Booze Blamed For Gun Affray

Sam Jones, of Cobb county, was arrested late Monday night charged with shooting W. L. Ludlow, 36 years old, who is now in Grady hospital in a critical condition with a bullet wound in the abdomen. Jones was arrested by Lieutenant Carroll and Policemen Cates and Head. He told county officers that the shooting occurred after a quarrel over a gallon of whisky. He is being held without bond, awaiting the developments in Ludlow's condition.

Ludlow is in such a serious condition that he cannot yet be questioned about the affair. He was found by H. E. Malaier, of the Chattahoochee Brick company, near the brick yards. He staggered in to the road by Mr. Malaier's machine and gasped that he was shot and that he wanted to be carried to the hospital.

The injured man was placed in a machine and hurried to Grady hospital, where physicians found that he had been shot in the abdomen, the bullet puncturing the intestines.

Yarn of a Yarn That Back-Fired On Item-Hound

Ziegfeld Finds Publicity Story Turned Feminine Too Hot to Handle.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, July 24.—Just a little publicity, just a nippy little theatrical news item of the kind that press agents call the dog story, has grown to such size on Broadway that Florenz Ziegfeld, who started the story, is rushing back from Paris to avert the blighting of his romance with Billie Burke, the one-time "darling of Broadway."

Eight years ago, Ziegfeld won Billie Burke and married her and their life together showed all the outward signs of felicity until Ziegfeld started this little publicity story on its unfriendly career a couple of months back.

About the time that Ziegfeld's famous musical comedy, "Sally," began to show a shrinkage in the vital region of the boxoffice, there came a rumor that Marilyn Miller, the willful young star of the show, intended to marry Jack Pickford. Ziegfeld has had thousands of columns of publicity in his time and none of it ever hurt him before. Perhaps he meant what he said about this match but maybe he was just taking advantage of a situation which would get his show and Miss Miller, the star, into print all over the country, which is always good for a show and all concerned therewith.

A Slam at Jack.

Anyway, Ziegfeld said that if Marilyn married Jack he would have to close the show and thereby cancel her income of $1,500 a week because he thought the public wouldn't love her any more. Jack Pickford has been up and down Broadway as much as Bill Jones or the next man and hasn't given the police any reason to pick him up on sight, so people wondered what Ziegfeld had on his mind beside his business affairs and his twenty-five dollar Parisian velvet.

Then Ziegfeld explained that Pickford was "miked up" in that shacker scandal at the New York headquarters of the naval reserve during the war when certain wealthy young men bought funk-hole assignments ashore, which didn't even require them to wear the uniform or sleep in hammocks or scrub and wash their own dander. This was no news. Everybody recalled that Pickford made the sequel which exposed his shipmates of the good ship sitting pretty.

Marilyn W. Billie.

To Marilyn this was not publicity but persecution and she wasn't at all coy about seeing reporters in Boston where the show had moved for its health. Marilyn "said things." Miss Burke at her home in York Harbor, Me., retorted with suggestive references to certain nights of merriment at Miss Miller's home. Marilyn came back with the broad insinuation that Ziegfeld was jealous of Pickford. She said Ziggy offered her a diamond as big as a cobblestone or almost that big and enough pearls to hang a circus fat woman. By this time the ladies had the floor and Ziegfeld hadn't a chance.

Anyway, he was in Paris and any man who thinks he can out-talk two temperamental stars of the stage in a personal spat over their honey-dumplings, at the cable rate of 25 cents a word is a candidate for the royal suite in the cookhouse cottage.

So Ziegfeld is rushing home from Paris by the first and fastest available transportation, following up his cablegram to Billie, telling her he could "swear to God there is nothing to which you can take exception."

Miss Burke said she wouldn't affirm or deny or further discuss a rumor that she would leave Ziggy and take their little daughter, Patricia, with her.

All on account of a little publicity.

Washington, July 24.—(By Constitution Bureau.)—Under the leadership of the national council for the reduction of armament, the various women organizations of Georgia are expected to stage "no more war" demonstrations throughout the state on July 29 and 30, in connection with the international demonstration, it was announced today.

All branches of the state's W. C. T. U., the League of Women Voters, National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' association from over the entire state will participate in the demonstration, with special orders already having been issued from Rome, Macon, Barnesville, Irwinton and Marietta, the announcement stated.

Plans have been perfected by the national council for the reduction of armaments to have the phrase "no more war" rise in a chorus from 13 nations and in 10 different languages on the dates mentioned, in commemoration of the eighth anniversary of the outbreak of the great war.

Chambers of commerce, newspapers, libraries, ministers of all denominations, disabled soldiers' organizations, farmers', trades union organizations, together with every kind of women's organizations are taking part in the program, the announcement stated, adding that the Georgia demonstration would be duplicated in practically all states in the union.

WOMAN TO DROP CHARGES AGAINST COLLECTOR ROSE

Accompanied by Her Husband, She Makes Call Monday on Federal Officials Here.

ANXIOUS FOR PUBLIC HEARING, SAYS ROSE

Case Will Be Called Tuesday Morning and Developments Indicate That It Will Be Dismissed.

Coming as a surprising development in the sensational charges brought two weeks ago against Joseph T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, by a woman employee of his department, the prosecutrix in the case appeared at the federal building Monday morning, accompanied by her husband, and sought to have the warrant withdrawn.

Subsequent developments indicated that the charge against the collector will be dismissed when the case is called for trial at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning by Commissioner W. C. Carter.

Anxious for Hearing.

When apprised of the move by the principal prosecuting witness Collector Rose stated that he is very anxious to have a public hearing.

"The charge was without foundation in the beginning," he said, "and the action of the woman in attempting to withdraw the charge on the eve of the hearing certainly proves my contention that her story was false. When forced to a showdown she didn't have the evidence."

The collector conferred with his attorney, Eugene Dodd, late Monday afternoon.

The woman, who formerly held the rank of deputy collector and served as secretary to Collector Rose, charged two weeks ago that she was assaulted by the official on or about March 1. Commissioner Carter decided to issue a warrant on her affidavit, and the collector insisted that it be issued. The commissioner issued the warrant, over the disapproval of District Attorney Clint W. Hager.

Together with her husband, the complainant is said to have called at the district attorney's office Monday morning and made an affidavit in which she stated that she wished the commissioner's warrant withdrawn.

Hager Not Willing to Act.

The district attorney is understood to have informed her that he did not feel inclined to make any recommendation to the commissioner with reference to the warrant, inasmuch as it had been issued over his protest.

He then referred them to Commissioner Carter, with whom they discussed the matter briefly. Commissioner Carter afterwards stated that the case will be called at 10 o'clock, the set time, and if prosecuting witnesses do not press the charge, the case will be dismissed for want of prosecution.

It was learned late Monday afternoon that the district attorney had indicated that owing to the apparent unwillingness of the prosecutrix to testify, other witnesses in the case would be formally notified that their presence would not be required in commissioner's court at the hour set for the hearing.

Hoover to Assume Fuel Dictatorship For Strike Crisis

STRIKE OF 10,000 STATION AGENTS AVERTED MONDAY

Efforts of Labor Member of Rail Board Prevent Further Spread of Railroad Strike.

EASTERN ROADS PLAN TO FORM NEW UNIONS

While Baltimore and Ohio Continues Efforts to Secure Separate Peace With Shop Strikers.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, July 24.—The averting of a strike of approximately 10,000 station agents, preparations for the formation of new unions of shop workers on forty eastern roads, and negotiations for a separate peace on the Baltimore and Ohio, marked the progress today of the railway shopmen's strike. The move for new unions to take the place of the striking shop crafts was initiated by L. F. Loree, eastern regional chairman of the association of railway executives and was taken as an indication of the intention of the roads to hold out against the strikers' demand for a return of seniority rights as preliminary to any settlement.

The eastern roads, according to Mr. Loree, plan to take advantage of rulings by the labor board by organizing new shopmen in such a way that each system will have its own union and will be able to negotiate separately with its men.

For Separate Peace.

Parleys for a separate peace, due tomorrow at Baltimore between representatives of the striking shopmen and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad attracted considerable attention in union circles, but strike leaders refused to make any comment.

The efforts of W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the rail board, today prevented a further spread of the Reverence for Law and Order Urged by Governor—Robert Corley Speaks to Strikers.

Strikers Enjoined.
Jacksonville, Fla., July 24.—Striking shop craftsmen named in recent temporary injunction granted by Federal Judge H. D. Clayton to the Florida East Coast railroad, refused to contest the order when it came up for hearing today. Judge Clayton entered an interlocutory injunction to take the place of the order which restrains strikers from interfering with the company's property, employees or prospective employees.

The injunction applies to the entire system of the East Coast. The strikers were not represented in court by counsel today but explained their position through their spokesman, R. D. Roberts.

"All we desire is the protection of our constitutional rights," Roberts said. "It is the intention of the striking shop forces to conduct their strike in an orderly and peaceful manner and not to appear arbitrary to the law of the land in any respect."

Details of Program.

Details of the government's program are these:

First—Formation of associations under Hoover's personal direction, whose combined purposes will be to produce coal, pool it and stop profiteering.

Second—Application to the interstate commerce commission for rules covering car distribution during the shortage so that available equipment can be placed at those mines affording the greatest opportunity of service and willing to charge no more than a fair price for its product.

those mines co-operating on a fair price basis by refusal to divert cars to those operators who attempt to profiteer during the emergency.

Virtual Dictator.
Hoover, under the plan, becomes a virtual fuel dictator during the emergency. He can and will immediately obtain from the non-union operators all necessary information as to possible production and car needs and will be constantly in touch with the requirements of the railroads and other industries. As situations require he will advise the interstate commerce commission as to any modifications or additions in special rules handed down by the commission to meet these situations. He will be the one to determine what constitutes a fair price for fuel at the mines and his will be the authority to serve or cut off car supplies at the different mines, according to whether the operators co-operate with him on a fair price basis or attempt to profiteer.

In passing legal opinion on Hoover's proposal, Daugherty revealed the administration's concern over the dangers confronting the nation through the waning fuel harvest. Numerous industries "threatened with paralysis," cities "left in darkness" because of suspended lighting plants, "misery, suffering, distress and even famine and death" took their part in the picture Daugherty painted of the outlook.

Plan Ruled Legal.
Facing this situation, Daugherty ruled, in a letter to Hoover, that, "in my opinion the plan is entirely legal." "I fail to see wherein any law of congress will be violated. The interests of the public are deserving of paramount consideration, and I have no misgivings in giving it my unqualified approval."

"Moreover, I feel convinced that full and ample authority exists for its adoption and effective enforcement. If the interstate commerce commission finds the existence of an emergency such as you describe, that body has ample and unquestioned authority to provide such rules and regulations as will enable the plan you suggest to be carried into operation.

Purpose of Plan.
"In concluding I want to say that I have no hesitancy in advising you that in my opinion where and when an emergency exists on account of the shortage of coal for use in interstate commerce and in the transportation of the mails and when the price of coal for such purposes and for the general necessities of the people has been unjustifiably and unbearably increased by operators who produce a large supply, associations such as your plan contemplates to act with and under governmental agencies to meet the existing emergency, more equitably to distribute coal, and to prevent extortion in the price thereof while acting with and under governmental agencies for the purposes aforesaid, are legal and do not violate any provision of the so-called Sherman anti-trust law or any other federal law."

Hoover Describes Plan.
It will take some little time to get the Hoover proposal in definite shape and finally agreed to by all the parties affected. Hoover, Monday evening, issued the following statement, together with a summary of his plan:

"During the day discussions have been conducted under the chairman of the secretary of commerce, in collaboration with Commissioner Acheson, of the interstate commerce commission; Mr. Esterline, of the department of justice; Director Smith, of the geological survey, and Acting Director Holbrook, of the bureau of mines for the department of the interior; the representatives of the coal operators; Mr. Gorman, of the American Railway association, and Mr. Davis, director general of railroads. Mr. Backus was elected chairman of the operators' committee."

Here is the tentative plan now under discussion which will be submitted back to Daugherty for final approval and to all parties concerned in its administration:

Plan in Detail.

"1. A committee in Washington, to be appointed by the president's representatives of the department of commerce, the interstate commerce commission, the department of justice and the department of the interior, to be designated the presidential committee. This committee to have general supervision of the measures to be taken hereunder and to authorize the execution of such of these measures as may be necessary from time to time.

"2. The administrative committee, comprising representatives of the presidential committee together with representatives of operators, representatives of the railroads, and, where necessary, representatives of the larger consuming groups.

"3. The presidential committee will establish a representative in each coal producing district.

District Committees.

"4. The presidential committee will appoint a committee of operators in each district to be nominated by the District Operators' association or independent operators (in case of failure of the operators to take such action the presidential committee may appoint such operators as they see fit on such committee). The members of these district committees may be changed as determined upon by the presidential committee.

"5. The presidential committee will co-operate with the interstate commerce commission in carrying out preferential orders issued by the commission.

"6. The governmental representatives in the districts with the co-operation of the district committees shall advise the agencies of the interstate commerce commission as to local or movement to effect the purposes of this plan.

"7. The operators will proceed with their usual business until they are affected by preference orders.

Allotment of Cars.

"8. It is expected that the district committees under authority of the presidential committee will recommend the allotment of cars on the basis of those who conform to the strike in the district, and upon the basis of the presidential committee.

"9. When the operators demand, then suitable guarantees shall be given for the operators by persons buying under priority orders.

"10. The railroads will be requested to appoint a representative to deal with the purchase of railway fuel.

"11. The basis of prices agreed upon between the operators and the secretary of commerce on June 1 are to be maintained, except where varied by the presidential committee, and this same basis of price determination shall be applied to all districts which are so far not co-operating."

strike in a conference with W. J. Noone, head of the station agents' organization. Mr. Noone complained that the station agents were being forced to do the work of the strikers, but Mr. McMenamin gave him such assurances that any grievances would be corrected that he afterward announced that the station agents would remain at work pending a conference with the labor board.

Few Outbreaks.

Comparatively few outbreaks due to the strike were reported during the day, but further cancellation of trains, which was due mostly to the shortage of coal, were reported from various sections.

S. M. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western railroad tonight issued a statement denying that he had a long distance telephone conversation with President Harding on Saturday in which the president had been reported as requesting Mr. Felton to use his influence to end the strike.

ULTIMATE SENT M. D. & S. STRIKERS.

Macon, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) A communication was received from striking employees of the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad, warning them to return to their posts by July 25, or they will be considered out of the service and will forfeit all seniority rights.

This letter has been sent to every employee, white and colored, who is working on strike, according to S. J. Grimshaw, assistant general manager of the road. The communication reads as follows:

"Believing you have had time to carefully consider the matter, and that you realize you have no dispute with this company, we hereby invite you to return to your position at the shop on July 25, 1922. Those who do not report for duty will be considered out of service and forfeit all seniority rights."

"Yours very truly,"

"S. T. GRIMSHAW,"

"Assistant general manager."

The employment of five men by the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad, who gave bond and were sworn in as deputy sheriffs, was a late development in the strike situation Monday.

Several men were hired by the company but will be only special agents to guard their property.

R. T. Chapel, chairman of the shopcrafts, said there was no change in the situation of the strikers.

There were 1,200 men in the strike, three-fourths of whom are strikers.

Nicholson secured Governor Hardwick for sending troops to Waycross.

WILL PASS ON CAPITOL REMOVAL EXPENSE

The remainder of the session is expected to prevent a lengthy filibuster over the tax repeal measure and if it comes to a vote within the next few days the repealers claim they have strength enough to pass it and send it back to the senate.

The house Monday adopted a resolution paying tribute to the memory of the late Senator William B. Weaver, who served for more than a score of years as a representative in the legislature from Bibb county. Speaker Neill asked that the house sit for two minutes with heads bowed as a tribute of respect to Mr. Hall.

Name is Changed.

Representative Ennis' bill providing that the name of the Georgia Normal and Industrial institute at Milledgeville be changed to the Georgia State College for Women was passed.

A resolution was introduced in the house by Representative Bentley, of Fulton, providing that the house adjourn on July 24 at 12 o'clock on the morning of August 15 and then to adjourn sine die August 16. The resolution was defeated by an overwhelming vote.

Representative Bentley said he introduced the resolution to give those members who are constantly asking that expenses be cut a chance to cut expenses by curtailing the legislative session.

The house heard a debate of more than an hour on the bill introduced by Representatives Valentino, of Chatham, and Moore, of Fulton, providing that counties may maintain kindergartens out of surplus school funds. An amendment virtually nullifying the bill introduced by Representative Knicker of Berrien, was passed, whereupon the friends of the measure had it tabled.

HARDING TO VETO M'CUMBER BONUS

He has compiled a table showing that should an ex-service man negotiate a loan on his certificate for $500 at a bank and hypothecate his certificate as security, when it is redeemed by the government, it will cost $1,300.

The Nebraska senator points out that while under the plan the government will be forced to pay from 6 to 8 per cent interest on the loan the treasury can only realize a much lower rate of interest on loans made on the certificates which are forfeited.

Should the McCumber bill come before the senate, the Nebraska senator will have an important amendment to offer to the loan provision to remedy the defect mentioned.

CHURCH CONVENTION TO OPEN AT DECATUR

Decatur, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) The DeKalb County Sunday school convention will be held in the Decatur Presbyterian church, Friday, and all Sunday schools in the county have been invited to send representatives.

"Forward in Religious Education," will be the convention theme.

Among those who will have part on the program are Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory university; R. D. Webb, state general superintendent of the Georgia Sunday School association; Mrs. W. L. Blanton, well-known Sunday school worker; Col. H. A. Etheridge, teacher of one of the largest Sunday school classes in the city; and Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the Methodist church, Decatur.

Dr. J. M. Eakes, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Decatur, and Dr. W. A. Smart, Emory university.

Dr. Phillips, of Redan, is president of the County Sunday School association. Other officers include: A. B. Coffey, Lithonia, vice-president; J. B. Lockhart, Kirkwood, Young People's Division superintendent; Robert Scott, Decatur, adult superintendent. District presidents are: No. 1, James Griffin, Stone Mountain; No. 2, M. P. Scott, Decatur; No. 3, R. F. Smith, Decatur; No. 4, Augustine Sams, Decatur; No. 5, W. M. Mendenhall, Chamblee.

A pageant will be given Friday evening by members of the Vacation Bible school, now being conducted in the Decatur Presbyterian church.

MRS. ADLINE WRIGHT DIES AT AGE OF 94

Rome, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—The death of Mrs. Adeline Elizabeth Wright, of Rome, occurred at her summer home at Mentone, Ala., this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at the age of 94 years.

She was the widow of the late Judge Augustus H. Wright, and mother of Hon. Seaborn Wright, Judge Moses Wright, Mrs. S. S. King and Miss Adeline Wright, all of Rome; Thomas Wright, of Chattanooga, and Paul D. Wright, of Lafayette, besides a large number of grandchildren in Rome and other cities.

The remains were brought to Rome this afternoon and the funeral will occur from the First Baptist church here.

NEW STOVE COMPANY OPERATING AT ROME

Rome, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Ten months after the destruction of the Bowie Stove Works, in East Rome a new plant said to be the most modern stove foundry in the south, is in operation under the name of the Rome Stove and Range company. The first heat in the new plant was run last week, and the foundry will be in operation hereafter.

About 25 men are engaged, but by the end of this week the plant will be at capacity operation, with 60 men employed.

the trains.

The first course, the president is understood to believe, would be acceptable to the strikers, who would see in it the capitulation of the railroad executives, and a victory won for labor.

The chief contention of the strikers, it was said, has developed into a fight for seniority, with the wage dispute becoming subordinate.

There is little disposition in government circles to consider meeting the emergency by actually putting the lines under government operation.

AUGUSTA MEETING.

Augusta, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) There was an orderly demonstration here tonight of the striking railway shopmen. They formed at Labor hall, and led by a brass band, proceeded to the courthouse, where the Telfair street steps of which they were addressed by Charles T. Nicholson, of the general executive board of the International Association of Machinists. The speaker was introduced by C. Vernon Elliott, member of city council. There were 1,200 men in the audience, three-fourths of whom are strikers.

Nicholson secured Governor Hardwick for sending troops to Waycross.

Do You Awake Tired and Weak?

Know the Joy of Restful Sleep by Taking Ironized Yeast

Do you arise in the morning as unfresh as when you retired? Are body, brain and nerves all run down? This terrible weakness which afflicts so many may be blamed on the lack of vitamins and iron in modern foods. Bonds Win at Lumpkin.

Lumpkin, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) In an election held in Stewart county today to determine whether or not bonds be issued for the rebuilding of the courthouse, from best information obtainable the result was decidedly in favor of bonds. Seven hundred votes were polled, and it is reported 564 were for bonds.

To help promote good health see that the articles you use in your bakings give you—

Food containing gluten which is vital to your vitality.

Gluten is the soul of flour

—the real nutritive element. It is gluten that builds health, strength, and makes robust children and healthy men and women.

Why take a chance on losing the full value of this gluten? Good, wholesome bakings can be made only from good materials—no other way—so use only good baking powder and plain flour for best results.

Don't use substitutes such as self-rising flour, Cake Mixes, and Egg Savers (so-called).

The safe course which is pointed out to the family physician is to recommend pure plain flour and a baking powder of standard quality, and to be especially watchful in all cases of malnutrition to be sure the diet carries strength giving properties.

For best results use—

Calumet Baking Powder and a good plain flour.

KLAN CANDIDATE LEADS TEXAS RACE

Dallas, July 24.—Latest returns, which included 232 counties out of 251, showed late Monday that Earle R. Mayfield, Ku Klux Klan candidate in the senatorial primary, still was leading with 112,000 votes. His nearest rival is the former governor, James E. Ferguson, with 88,166, an anti-klan candidate. Six men are in the race, two of them either wholly or in part endorsed by the klan. These two have polled one-third of the total vote counted thus far. Other counts, than those of Mayfield and Ferguson, are those of Charles A. Culberson, incumbent anti-klan, 75,762; Cullen F. Thomas, anti-klan, 63,780; Clarence F. Huey, slightly anti-klan, 44,030; Robert L. Henry, former congressman, admittedly a member of the klan, 32,256. The first democratic primary election was held on last Saturday and because of the entrance of the klan question, is exciting more than usual interest. Representative Thomas L. Blanton, with a five-to-three lead, seems to have won a place on the second "run off" primary, which will be held August 26. Billie Mayfield, Jr., a newspaper man, a klan candidate for lieutenant governor, is leading also, and he, with T. W. Davidson, anti-klan, is expected to earn a place on the "run off."

Thirty thousand actors and actresses are in this country according to theatrical estimators.

North Georgia Scenes To Be Photographed On Government Tour

Bell Heads Expedition From Gainesville After Constitution's Tour.

Gainesville, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—The recent expedition of government and state highway and forestry officials through the national reservations of northeast Georgia, conducted by The Constitution, has led to another survey of the mountain section by Congressman Thomas M. Bell and a party of officials, among whom are George L. Wood, superintendent of rural and star mail service for the postoffice department; Mr. Shipp, official photographer of the United States bureau of forestry, and Engineer Morgan, of the state highway department.

This party, conducted by Congressman Bell, left Gainesville this morning, and among the places to be visited are Cornelia, Lakemont, Burton, Tiger, Clayton, Rabun Gap, Dillard, Nacoochee, Helen, Mount Zion, Cleveland, Dahlonega, Amnicola, Falls, Blood Mountain, Dawsonville, Tate, Jasper, Ellijay and Blue Ridge. Mr. Wood will make a general survey of the postal route in Hall, Habersham, Stephens, Rabun, White, Lumpkin and Dawson counties, also of Pickens, Gilmer and Fannin. Pictures will be made of the government postoffice at Gainesville and also of Toccoa Falls, Burton and Lakemont dams and lakes, and of the peaks of Rabun, Tryon, Yonah, Blood and other mountains.

The Constitution literally placed the mountains of Georgia on the map as the future playground of the east, and the tour that is being made this week by Congressman Bell and other government officials is to accentuate and help the great development project so ably started—and which is attracting attention throughout the United States.

STRIKERS WARNED AGAINST VIOLENCE

nation-wide strike, except to state that he did not feel it was his duty to pass judgment on the controversy. He confined his remarks strictly to the subject of law observance and discussed that in a general way.

Features of Day. The Auditorium mass-meeting, which was attended by approximately 3,000 persons, principally strikers, and the beginning of a federal court hearing into charges by three railroads that strikers here have used forceful picketing methods were features of wide interest in the strike situation here Monday. The hearing began shortly after 10 o'clock after Judge S. H. Siler overruled a motion of the strikers for postponement, and will be resumed at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Attacking the attitude of the rail labor board in the wage dispute which resulted in a nation-wide walkout of shompen as a part of the movement fostered by the national chamber of commerce to put into effect the open-shop plan, which he termed "the most completely closed, non-union plan ever devised," Corley declared that "if we give to the board the things they demand of us today, we might just as well give up human liberty and enter into slavery in every sense of the word."

Corley declared that there is nothing in the transportation act denying the right to strike and, he added, "we are going to strike until victory crowns our brow."

Mayor Key Speaks. J. P. Osburn, general chairman of the Atlanta Federated Shop Employees, presided. After Governor Hardwick spoke very briefly and took his departure, Mayor Key and Congressman Upshaw were introduced for short addresses.

Mayor Key said that he would like to be president of the United States for one hour and fifteen minutes. "The first thing I would do would be to fire the rail labor board by wire," he said. It is incompetent and inefficient. It doesn't understand what its duties are, and doesn't know how to find out what they are. "After firing the board I would ask all railroad executives to reduce all ultimata that have been issued, both sides of the dispute to meet in

UPSHAW'S POSITION

Congressman Upshaw said he had cancelled a remunerative lecture engagement in South Carolina in order to be present at the meeting. He agreed with the strikers that their seniority rights should not be taken from them and that they should be paid extra compensation for overtime and Sunday work.

At the opening of his address, Corley, the international representative, read a decision rendered by Federal Judge Page, of Chicago, who held that although congress had conferred upon the labor board the right to render decisions in wage disputes, the decisions were merely advisory with no provisions for enforcement except the persuasive power of public opinion.

Corley also read excerpts of addresses made on the senate floor during a discussion of the transportation act prior to its passage by senators who declared that the bill did not give the right to strike. He pointed out that the strikers had not violated the transportation act.

"Wages Insignificant." "The question of wages is of insignificant consequence," he said. "The question involved is of the principles for which we organized—seniority rights and a penalty for overtime. No power this side of God Almighty can defeat this strike except the strikers themselves who weaken and go back to work at the dictation of the railroad executives."

"I don't believe there is an engineer in the country who would run his locomotive before he would see us go down the tracks," he said. "Our strikers are in a good cause, and, if need be, labor will die in a good cause."

The speaker warned the strikers against emissaries, whom, he said, would be sent among them by the roads for the purpose of spreading secret. He urged them to encourage each other by determining to stay out until the finish.

STRIKE LEADERS DEFEND WORK OF THEIR PICKETS.

Leaders in the local strike of railroad shompen do not sanction forceful picketing methods or any violation of law in connection with the walkout, according to testimony in federal court Monday by William Turner, chairman of the law and order committee appointed by the executive board of the six local railroad shomperats involved in the strike. Turner was one of several witnesses who testified for the strikers at the opening session of the hearing on the petition filed last Friday by the Western & Atlantic, the N. C. & St. L., and the Seaboard Air Line railroads, who asked that the strikers be enjoined from using forceful picketing methods. The hearing adjourned at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, when additional witnesses will be placed on the stand.

"No Violence Countenanced." Turner testified that as chairman of the law and order committee he visits all pickets in the city two and three times a week, and that some of them are visited daily. At all times he has instructed them to maintain a very peaceful attitude. No violence is countenanced by the shomperat organizations, he said.

Other witnesses for the strikers Monday were T. L. Slappey, recording secretary for Atlanta Lodge No. 1, International Association of Machinists; Sam Shockey, a member of the sheet metal workers' union; C. C. Householder, chairman of the local system of federated shomgrates; and A. B. Toney. Their testimony was similar in nature to that given by Turner.

Upon opening of the hearing Monday morning, Judge Samuel H. Siler overruled a motion by Attorney Hooper Alexander, representing the strikers, to postpone the hearing on the ground that his side had not been given sufficient notice.

Attorney Alexander contended that the question involved did not constitute an emergency which required immediate action by the court. Attorney John Tye, representing the N. C. & St. L., and the W. & A. railroads, differed with him, stating that the issue required immediate attention.

Strikers Lose Point. Attorney Tye said that instances of violence threatened the welfare of the road and endangered the service to the public. He pointed out that the presence of a large crowd of strikers in the courtroom indicated that sufficient advance notice of the hearing had been given. The court decided against the strikers.

Various affidavits reciting instances of disorder and alleged violence were read by representatives of the roads. It was brought out that many persons employed by the roads had been intimidated by strikers and that persons seeking employment had been intimidated. Several instances of assault were charged.

Reopening of the shops of the Seaboard Air Line railroad at Howell station was announced Monday by officials of the road. It was stated that 138 men reported for duty. The normal working force is said to be 250 men.

Seaboard officials said that although the road has thus far maintained a policy of employing no new men to replace strikers, it has been found necessary to take that step to insure the proper service on its lines. None of the men seeking work at the place Monday were strikers, it was said.

PUMP MEN QUIT MINES WHEN SOLDIERS COME

Bellefonte, Ohio, July 24.—Pumpmen and fanmen on duty in idle coal mines in this vicinity were reported leaving their posts today as a protest against the bringing of state troops into the district.

Frank Ledvinka, president of the United Mine Workers in this district, said this morning he had received several reports of pumpmen and fanmen leaving their posts, although he declared these men had not been ordered out by the union.

There are approximately 125 mines in this territory, and at the beginning of the coal strike one pumpman and one fanman was kept on duty at each mine to guard against fire and flood.

TWO GIRLS KILLED BY IRISH Sentries

Belfast, July 24.—Two girls, aged 15 and 16 years, returning from Free State to north Ireland territory at Jonesborough, county Antrim, last night, were ordered to halt. They failed to obey, and were fired upon and killed.

Near Newry, a girl on her way home from school yesterday, was hit by a stray bullet and is in a critical condition. In Dublin early today two men were killed when an armed band attempted to raid a public house.

CAPPER CHARGES SISAL MONOPOLY

Washington, July 24.—Sherman anti-trust law prosecution of alleged American-Mexican monopoly of sisal, used in making binding twine, was asked of Attorney-General Daugherty in a formal complaint filed today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, chairman of the senate agricultural bloc.

The sisal sales corporation and its New York agents, Hanson & Orth and the commission Exportadora of Yucatan, Mexico, were named by Senator Capper in his complaint. The former was alleged to be the American selling organization and the latter charged with being in control of the Mexican sisal production.

Senator Capper, actuated by complaints of Kansas officials operating a binding twine factory, cited a provision in the Sherman anti-trust law, called to his attention by Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture, under which anti-trust proceedings would lie, it was alleged, against interests conspiring to increase selling prices of foreign products in America.

The Kansas senator charged that the two organizations named constituted "a monopoly operating in the United States."

WOMEN BUILDERS ASK FOR ROME CHARTER

Rome, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Petition for a charter for the Rome Woman's Building association, organized under the auspices of the auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce, will be filed with the clerk of superior court this week. Officers of the auxiliary and general chairmen of departments, together with the presidents of other organizations, will be applicants for the charter.

Remodeling of the old Shelby home on Third avenue is progressing rapidly and the painting and paper hanging will be started Monday. Merchants and business men of Rome have contributed generously to the furnishing and equipping of the building will extend its social and civic activities throughout the city.

THE LAW AND THE LASH.

According to an announcement by Representative Jones Perryman, chairman of the house penitentiary committee, legislation to "place restrictions on the use of the lash" in Georgia penal institutions is in course of preparation for introduction at an early date.

The proposed bill, it is said, contemplates many sweeping changes in the details of administration of the state penal system, all of them, perhaps, being commendable; but the corporal punishment clause, as outlined in advance by Mr. Perryman, falls short of the requirements.

It provides, according to the published summary of the bill—

"that there shall at no time be inflicted any corporal punishment until after direct infraction of prison rules and at no time without first having gotten the approval of the state warden, and in all cases a specific record shall be kept of each case, with full reasons given, and this shall be open to public inspection during business hours, at the warden's office."

That would leave the situation, so far as the law is concerned, little better than it is now.

The present law permits whipping of prisoners "only as a last resort," and under restrictions intended adequately to safeguard against the infliction of "cruel and inhuman treatment."

But the intent, if not, indeed, the very letter of the law, is repeatedly being disregarded and overstepped by wardens and whipping bosses who are dominated by brutal instincts.

Where the prison commission rules, framed in keeping with the law, provide, for instance, that no more than "ten licks" shall be administered, and "under no circumstances on the naked skin," the enraged whipping boss, having his man securely in his power, frequently lays on the "ten licks" as punishment for one specific infraction, followed by ten more, then ten more, etc., the individual chastisement being repeated three, five or as many as seven times, in some instances, until the anger of the flogger is appeased, or until it becomes apparent that the helpless victim can endure no more and live!

The letter of the law, however, is not violated, the prison authorities argue in defense of the fiendish practice, and so long as the flesh of the victim is covered even with a thickness of blood-soaked muslin during the period of chastisement, the lash is not applied "on the naked skin," hence not in violation of the law.

What the legislature should do, and what the decent, humane, Christian public sentiment of Georgia wants the legislature to do, is to abolish the practice of flogging altogether!

The very fact that our laws even recognize it as being permissible—to say nothing of their condoning it—is a disgrace to the good name of the state.

It is a cruel, barbaric, bestial and revolting practice, and it ought to be abolished.

And the only way to abolish it is to abolish it.

Further legal "restrictions" will do little, if any, good.

The restrictions that are now brown round the practice are being isolated or circumvented, and so additional ones would be.

But even if none but sensible, human-hearted men were ever permitted to attain positions of authority within our prison system—and no man of that type would ever apply the lash to the body of a fellow man, "made in the image of God," regardless of the latitude that might be given him under the law—the very fact that the law contemplated such brutality under any circumstances would still be shameful, and demoralizing in its tendency.

It is to be hoped that the general assembly will go the whole way and legislate the lash and the inhuman office of "whipping boss" entirely out of existence within the jurisdiction of Georgia law!

CHILDHOOD THRIFT.

Future Rockefeller and Morgans are now in the making in the public schools of West Virginia.

The school children of that state are being taught the elements of banking and business through practical thrift. Banking has been made an important feature of the grammar and high school curriculums. It is not simply a case of teacher-talk and blackboard calculation: It is a plan whereby every school child in the state, rich or poor, may become the possessor of a real bank account.

West Virginia is the first and, so far, the only state to introduce a workable savings bank plan in her public schools. Six months' trial has proven its wonderful success. Thousands of school children who used to rush with every nickel to the nearest candy shop, are now building bank accounts; for, the plan makes possible savings accumulation in so small an amount as five cents. Its simplicity recommends it; and other states will, undoubtedly, soon adopt it.

Briefly stated, the details of the West Virginia plan, installed under authority of the state board of education, are these: Each school child is furnished with a book of ten pages; each page holds twenty stamps valued at five cents each; teachers supply the stamps at that price; with $1 worth of stamps pasted up, the pupil takes the page to his bank, indorses it on the back, and has a credit of the amount entered in his pass book. Only three to five minutes are consumed daily in each classroom in this practical instruction in business and finance. The teacher deposits her receipts, through the school principal, in one selected bank; the children may carry their accounts in any bank they choose, as the clearance plan is simple.

At certain times long lines of school children may be seen at the savings windows of banks in 120 West Virginia towns and cities, making their dollar deposits. Keen rivalry—individual and class pride—brings into growing savings accounts thousands of nickels that once were squandered in childish luxury and extravagance. Loans are made the children for good purposes, by the same methods and upon the same principles as are employed in general business. Girls or boys may borrow, if they wish, to invest in materials which they work into finished products and sell to increase their savings. Saving is, of course, optional; there is no coercion beyond the teacher's advice and the spirit of emulation.

Although the school savings plan in actual practice has had but a six-months' trial, West Virginia school children have already saved thousands of dollars; and school authorities are enthusiastic over its success. In one city with 10,000 school children, more than 9,000 have bank accounts. This is an exceptional record, but others are coming along in proportion. The plan has the warm approval and support of the West Virginia bankers.

But what is far more valuable than the bank account, is the spirit of thrift and the business knowledge and instinct, which each pupil carries away from school. It is foundation-laying for lives of usefulness and success.

Teaching thrift in America is no new thing. It was preached in "Poor Richard's Almanac" a century and a quarter ago. The teaching was long chiefly advisory and suggestive. It was slow in accomplishing results. Real development of the savings spirit has required other factors than mere suggestion. One of the most potent of these factors was found in the Liberty bond campaigns. Savings had begun to grow before the European war; but they made no such strides as they have since, that is, within the same length of time. Today the combined savings of the people of the United States are close to six billions of dollars, and are one of the main factors in the industrial development of the nation.

Now, West Virginia has brought into play, in building thrift, one of the most powerful of factors—child ambition and child emulation. It is sure to spread and grow.

With millions of school children busy saving nickels, American savings accumulations will mount at a pace difficult to conceive. Another six billions may be added almost before we know it.

Better business men and more of them; better understanding between employers and employees; fewer wage disputes and fewer strikes; more profitable and more serviceable industry—these are some of the big things promised from the growing spirit of thrift.

West Virginia is laying a wise, firm and substantial foundation. It is a future business—and character-building program which other progressive communities will not be slow to adopt.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

(Copyright, 1922, by The Constitution)

How to Amuse the Doctor.

Here's a lady who has discovered a very simple way to amuse the doctor, and I commend her method to many other ladies in the same predicament:

My Dear Dr. Brady:

In a recent talk you said that "any man or woman less than fifty years of age ought to find no great difficulty in doing a dozen forward and backward rolls every day."

I cannot testify as to the backward roll, but I can testify as to the forward roll. I began again under the stimulus of your persuasion, and at 57 I rejoice in both the exercise and the ability to accomplish it. Many times I am obliged to curl up in a ball and flop over just to suit a sort of friends that I really can do it.

I began somersaulting at your suggestion two years ago. Would you advise stopping at 50 or 60 or 70 or 80 or 90 or 100 or 110 or 120 or 130 or 140 or 150 or 160 or 170 or 180 or 190 or 200 or 210 or 220 or 230 or 240 or 250 or 260 or 270 or 280 or 290 or OLIVER GIVES $10,000 BOND AFTER ARREST

Elmer Oliver, founder of the Oliver Rima company, against whom an indictment charging the embezzlement of $800,000 of the company's funds was returned Saturday, July 15, was arrested Monday morning and taken to the solicitor-general's office, where he was placed under a $10,000 bond, which was signed by the Fidelity and Deposit company. The bond was ordered by Assistant Solicitor-General E. A. Stephens.

The amount of the alleged embezzlement was set at $800,000, but attorneys of the company state that they believe it will exceed this amount. The indictment came when auditors of the R. H. Luckenbill Co. presented to the grand jury sworn statements which were said to show large discrepancies traceable to Oliver.

First indications of the discrepancies came when W. Woods White, president of the Atlanta Loan and Savings company, took over active charge of the company last December at the request of a large number of stockholders. Through this method, it is charged that Oliver obtained $129,000. Through alleged discounting of company notes and other irregularities, Mr. Spence said that the total amount of the embezzlement would reach $200,000.

C. E. FIELD SECRETARY OUTLINES HIS WORK

President Clyde Underhill, of the Georgia Union, told the Christian Endeavor union of the Atlanta district Friday evening of the all-south meeting that has just closed at Hot Springs.

C. J. Matthews, newly appointed field secretary for Florida and Georgia, outlined his work.

He outlined the work of the position to which he was recently appointed. He chose "Inspiration" as a subject for his talk. Music was furnished by Barnett Presbyterian church, which had the largest percentage of members present. A tennis tournament to be announced later was suggested and plans were taken up to fill out a schedule. The meeting was held at the East Atlanta Christian church.

SAYS HE MARRIED WHILE "DRUGGED" FREED BY COURT

P. J. Eickstaedt obtained an order annulling his marriage to Mrs. B. L. Eickstaedt when he told a jury in Judge George L. Bell's division of Fulton superior court Monday that he was married while hypnotized or drugged. He stated that "he believed a man named Armstrong" engineered the marriage.

The petitioner alleged that on the night of June 15, 1920, he was in Armstrong's company, and that the latter suggested that he get married. He said Armstrong called for soft drinks, and after they had been drunk Armstrong kept him awake by mental suggestion. Eickstaedt further stated that he was married in the court house in Knoxville, Tenn., where he purchased a marriage license and a ceremony was performed. When he came to, he said he realized he was married, and he was afraid his wife would sue him for abandonment if he refused to live with her.

He says that when he went to the apartment where he was living with his wife the night of October 11, 1920, he was alone. He said he never saw her since that time.

Eickstaedt was represented by Attorney Thomas E. Scott.

SIMMONS AND EVANS CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Judge George L. Bell Monday afternoon signed an order citing W. J. Simmons, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, and H. W. Evans, newly-elected secretary of the klunklunk, to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt of court for alleged violation of a previous order of the court.

The order was set for hearing September 2 in Fulton superior court. The order was asked by Harry B. Terrell, former grand juror and now attorney.

The original order, it is claimed, enjoined the Klan from changing the status of the organization or even from paying salaries. It is charged that this order was violated by the discharge of Secretary L. D. Wade.

Nathan Bedford Forrest, grand dragon of the Klan in Georgia, stated Monday that he was sending out orders to all the Klans to unmask immediately, except at meetings held in the Klan's halls.

"As soon as these orders have reached all Klan heads," he said, "I intend to send copies to each sheriff and chief of police in Georgia, and will ask them to arrest any person found wearing masks or costumes of the Ku Klux Klan or similar to those of the Ku Klux Klan in public."

DOUGHERTY LITIGATION ENDED IN AGREEMENT

An agreement reached Monday in Judge George L. Bell's division of Fulton superior court, between D. O. and Mrs. Wilhelmina Dougherty, closed the litigation which started in divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Dougherty against her husband two years ago.

Under the agreement Dougherty filed a retract, withdrawing charges he had made involving Roy Vincent, who was sentenced to a term in the penitentiary for impersonating an officer. He was granted a divorce and the custody of the two children, and agreed to pay $3,000 in full settlement for alimony, of which $1,000 is to be paid at once and the remainder in 90 days. Mrs. Dougherty is to surrender the residence, 19 Prado street, before August 7 and the furniture is to be divided.

The disability preventing Mrs. Dougherty from remarriage was removed by the court, and she was granted the privilege of seeing her children once a week, or in case of Dougherty's removal from the city, of having them in charge for one month each year.

Mrs. Dougherty was represented by McVelland & McClelland and Reuben Arnold, attorneys. J. K. Jordan and Ben Conyers represented Mr. Dougherty.

ROY BAZEMORE HURT DURING BASEBALL GAME

Roy F. Bazemore, 25 years old, first baseman for the Copperhill, Tenn., baseball team, is in the hospital in that city in a critical condition as a result of being struck in the temple by a ball, according to telephonic information received here Monday evening by his brother, Deputy Sheriff J. D. Bazemore.

Before going to Copperhill, Bazemore played with Eufaula, Ala., going there largely because of Fuzzy Woodruff's urging and making good from the start. The latest word from the injured man is that he is rallying from the effects of the blow and stands a good chance of recovering.

L. R. ADAMS TO GIVE LECTURE ON BANKING

The final lecture of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's mid-summer banking course, will be given by R. L. Adams, tonight in the assembly hall of the Chamber of Commerce building at 8 o'clock. Mr. Adams' subject will be "State Bank System: How It Functions, and Its Chief Contributions to the Banking World." There have been four other lectures on the banking subject delivered by local bankers. The course has been well attended.

FAIRBURN BANK WINS IN SUIT FOR BONDS

The court of appeals Monday affirmed a decision of the lower court in a damage claim against the Georgia Railway and Power company. The court also upheld a decision by a jury in the superior court of Campbell county refusing to hold the Fairburn Banking company liable for $1,200 in Liberty bonds alleged to have disappeared from the bank while W. B. Green was cashier.

Robert Howell, 15-year-old boy, brought suit, through his father as next friend, against the Georgia Railway and Power company for $25,000 damages for injuries he alleged to have sustained in May, 1918, as the result of a trolley pole falling on his head. The accident occurred near the corner of Walton and Broad streets.

The suit alleges that the lad's skull was fractured. The jury rendered a verdict for $14,000. The company secured a new trial. At the second trial a verdict was returned for $12,500. An appeal was taken, but the court of appeals sustained the verdict of the lower court.

George P. Green and Alford Green, as executors of the estate of E. W. Green, brought action against the Fairburn Banking company to recover the Liberty bonds which they said had been placed there by the bank for safe keeping. The receipt of Cashier W. B. Green for the bonds, Green later was indicted for embezzlement of the bank's funds, and was arrested.

owing to the connection with it, Mrs. Katherine Bradstreet, upon whom Green was alleged to have lavished the bank's funds.

IVAN ALLEN URGED TO ENTER CONTEST FOR MAYOR'S RACE

Friends of Ivan E. Allen, widely-known business man, Monday started a campaign to induce him to enter the race for mayor of Atlanta.

An advertisement inserted in local newspapers called upon Mr. Allen, who was reported out of the city, "To come home, we want you for mayor."

For several days there has been considerable gossip in city hall circles to the effect that Mr. Allen had been asked to make the race, but he had refused to announce definitely his intentions.

He is expected to return home this week, according to reports from his office, and his friends are confident that he will throw his hat into the ring.

JUDGE DECLARES BREAKING PROHIBITION LAW INEXCUSABLE

In sentencing Lola Burley, a negro, to 12 months for selling whiskey, Judge Charles E. Roop, of Carrollton, who is presiding in the criminal division of Fulton superior court, Monday declared that there is no excuse for violating the prohibition law.

"The prohibition law may be a bad one," he said, "but that is not for us to judge. If we don't like it we should repeal it by a vote of the people. It is on the statute books, and as good citizens we should uphold it."

Major Hunter Harris Assigned to Atlanta For Recruiting Work

Major Hunter Harris, brother of Senator W. F. Harris, Professor J. C. Harris, superintendent of state school for deaf; Dr. Seale Harris, president of Southern Medical association, and Major General P. C. Harris, assistant general of the United States army, has been assigned to Atlanta as city recruiting officer. Major Harris arrived Monday from Fort Meade, where he has been in charge.

There has not been a city recruiting officer here since April, 1921, the work being done by several military recruiting officers. Major Harris will open downtown offices immediately. He was at Camp Gordon in the 22nd infantry, and has been extensive service in several branches of the army.

KAPPA ALPHA HISTORY READY FOR FRAT MEN

A history of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, printed on lamp paper and covering 1,325 pages, has been written by W. B. Crawford, well known Orlando, Fla., attorney, and is now being distributed. Mr. Crawford is a nephew of Mrs. Walter E. Cason and Mrs. Carl Faires, of Atlanta. He is a Georgia university boy and was in college with several of the members of the organization in 1865. It is the most complete history of the fraternity yet written. The thin paper makes it a neat, flexible volume despite the great number of pages.

Mr. Crawford is a member of Alpha chapter, Washington and Lee university, and founded Alpha Psi chapter at the old Florida State college, Tallahassee, also Beta Zeta chapter, now active at the University of Florida, at Gainesville. He is grand historian of Kappa Alpha.

Atlanta Is Ready To Feast Solons On Fried Chicken

Final details for the municipal entertainment in honor of Governor Hardwick and members of the Georgia general assembly, which will be held at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Auditorium, have been completed, according to members of the various committees appointed by Mayor Key.

A sumptuous "Made in Georgia" dinner, including fried chicken and all other side dishes that go to make up a real feast, will be offered, it was stated by Walker West, executive secretary to the mayor.

The entertainment program which will follow the dinner, under the direction of Wylie West, Matthews, includes a number of interesting stunts. Some of Atlanta's most talented musical and dance artists appear on the official program.

Mayor Key will deliver the address of welcome to the distinguished guests. Response will be made by Governor Hardwick, President Herbert Hoover, and Cecil Neill, speaker of the house of representatives.

Immediately following the addresses the band will render a special musical number, after which thirteen young women will appear in a song-and-dance number. Appearing in this number will be Misses Ruth Singleton, Vena Moore, Nellie Young, Myrtle Cox, Eva Mills, Elsie Maurer, Bessie Oakley, Lucile Brown, Sarah Germain, Louise Todd, Evelyn Henry and Eva Weinberg.

Miss Hazel Whitney, accompanied by Eugene Lee, will sing "The Star Spangled Banner." Mr. J. H. Doolittle, Jr., will next appear in several musical numbers. She will be followed by G. P. Johnson, Miss Annie Mae Coleman and Mrs. Robert Blackburn, all of whom will render special acts.

Probably one of the most interesting acts on the program is Miss Nellie Sullivan and her eight dancing girls. Miss Sullivan will give an impromptu solo of the late George Primrose and his famous soft-shoe dance. In the chorus will be Elsie Maurer, Myrtle Cox, Zelma DeLoach, Virginia Harrison, Nell Tillman and Margaret Cobb.

Other acts on the program include G. B. Adair and several Loew's vaudeville acts. Concluding the entertainment, "The Pot Boil," a one-act play, written by the author of the Little Theater Guild, will be presented. Characters in this play are Charles Chalmers, Rosalind M. Lancelotti, Charles Lightfoot, Carson Hamilton, George Bush and E. P. Ennis.

ATLANTA GREEKS PLANNING STUDY OF AMERICANISM

The Greeks of Atlanta at a meeting on Sunday afternoon, at which a large number of local leaders were present, began an organization for the study of Americanism among their nationality. It also is planned to study American democracy, its principles and its history, and to educate members of the new organization in the manners, forms and functioning of the federal, state and municipal governments of the United States.

The organization is for the further avowed purpose of promoting harmony among the Greeks, the moral and uplifting of the nationality, and for mutual, social and benevolent aid among the members of the organization.

The prime mover for the organization is George A. Poulos, assisted by John Angelopoulos, Nick Chotos, Charles Karamolis, James Campbell, George Camacho, and others.

The intention of the organization is to secure a charter, making it national in scope with Atlanta as headquarters.

A delegation of colored property owners residing on Howell and Irwin streets appeared before the city planning commission Monday, and urged that body to decline the application of a local realty concern to erect a store building in that district.

After listening to the protests of the residents, the commission refused to amend the zoning ordinance in that section which stipulates that no business houses can be erected in the heart of the residential section.

A petition signed by more than 25 property owners in Ansley park to extend the residential district on Piedmont avenue a distance of 150 feet to its present terminus, was presented to the commission Monday.

Property owners on Howell and Hilliard streets appeared to contest the application for a storehouse in that section. This application was rejected.

Negro Sentenced For Stealing Truck From Employers

Olin Dodson, negro, driver for the NuGrape company, was given a sentence of three to five years in Fulton superior court Monday for stealing a truck from his employers.

NEW TRIAL DENIED R. N. BERRIEN, JR.

Judge John D. Humphries, in Fulton superior court Monday overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of R. N. Berrien, Jr., former Atlanta banker, convicted in March for larceny after trust of $1,000 in school warrants belonging to Murray county and sentenced to serve three to five years in the penitentiary.

Counsel for Berrien, Edgar Watkins, R. P. Jackson, John S. Highsmith and J. E. Echols, announced that they would take the case to the court of appeals.

They declared that the conviction of Berrien in March was illegal, "because, based upon an indictment which was void because of failure of the solicitor to have a former bill against Berrien not proffered after a demand for trial thereon had been filed."

Berrien was indicted last winter for the alleged larceny after trust from the state of $4200 worth of warrants for school funds. He was apprehended in New York and brought back to Atlanta. He was indicted on sixteen different counts and the state elected to try him on the Murray county charge.

Berrien will continue free under $10,000 bond until the court of appeals decides the case.

Anderson Given Transfer From Dawson County Chaingang to Farm

James J. Anderson, the convict whose fake confession to the murder of Charlie Dorsey created much excitement at the court house Saturday, was transferred Sunday to the state farm and members of the prison commission stated Monday that proper papers of transfer had already been obtained and officers had already taken him to the farm.

The convict declared Saturday that he had rather die than to stay any longer on the chaingang.

Anderson has served about a year of a 4-year term for highway robbery. He was convicted in April, 1921, and sent to the North county gaug, and was later transferred to Dawson county.

ROADS SEEK TO EJECT STRIKER FROM HOUSE

Judge George L. Bell Monday signed a rule nisi requiring W. H. Stockwell to show cause August 5 why he should not be enjoined from occupying the residence at 28 South Delta place upon petition of the Atlanta and West Point railway, the L. and N., and the Atlantic Coast Line railroads, who allege they, as operators of the Atlanta Joint Terminal, own the house in which he lives.

Stockwell had been employed as a wrecking engineer and had been furnished free the house, so that he would be available for immediate service in case of a wreck the terminal company alleged. Stockwell refused to answer a writ on July 9, having struck with other railway shopmen July 1, and then refused to move when ordered to do so by the company.

The terminal company contends that the workman had forfeited his right to the house by striking.

R. O. T. C. BOYS BACK AFTER 9 DAYS' CAMP

After a nine days' camp at Fort Oglethorpe, 90 students of the R. O. T. C. of four universities, who have been taking a special training course at Georgia Tech, returned to Atlanta Sunday in a motor convoy. The camp completed the training course and the students will be discharged and returned to their homes in a few days.

The students were selected from the R. O. T. C. units of Georgia Tech, the University of Georgia, the University of Tennessee and the Louisiana State University, to attend the camp and train for commissions in the reserve corps. Georgia Tech was chosen for the camp because of the number of officers available there. Major A. L. Pendleton, commandant at Tech, was in charge, assisted by a staff of 30 officers.

Church Workers Urge Co-operation With Negro Working Girls' Home

The committee on church co-operation at its meeting Monday adopted a motion endorsing the meeting to be held Tuesday evening at the Auditorium for the benefit of the Colored Working Girls' home. The address of the meeting will be delivered by Roscoe Conkling Simmons, nephew of Booker T. Washington, and recognized as one of the foremost orators of the negro race.

A large orchestra and chorus will furnish music for the meeting. The committee on church co-operation feels that the splendid work being done by the home warrants its support as well as the commendation of the white people of the city.

STRIKER IS ARRESTED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Charges of assault and battery were lodged Monday against W. D. Adams, Jr., an alleged striker, who is said to have attacked Wagner Melius, of New York, a representative of the New Jersey Zinc company, in Inman park.

Melius, who is stopping at the Piedmont hotel, stated that he was in the city to confer with railroad officials about obtaining better car service for his company. When approached by Adams, who demanded to know his business in the yards, he was told that he was there to see Adams, who then claimed that Adams began abusing him, finally striking him.

Adams was arrested by Lieutenant Paul Conner, of the Atlanta Police Department, and taken to the police station.

DR. MILTON J. HICKS, OF JACKSONVILLE, DIES

Dr. Milton J. Hicks, 74 years old, of Jacksonville, Fla., died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jesse M. Wood, 853 Spring street, after being in failing health for several months.

Dr. Hicks retired about three years ago and moved to Jacksonville, Fla., after practicing 25 years in Kissimmee, Fla. He was a member of the Methodist church and the Knights of Pythias and was active in the affairs of the Baptist church.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wood, and Mrs. Emma Pearce, of Jacksonville, and four grandchildren, Mrs. Grace Bryan, Miss Lucy Pearce and Milton and Morgan Wood. His wife died seven years ago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by A. W. & Lowndes upon the arrival of Mrs. Pearce.

HOLLYWOOD BUILDER VISITOR TO ATLANTA

Combining pleasure with a business trip, wherein he is utilizing his vacation in visiting a number of branch offices of his company, D. C. Nevin, vice president of the Hollywood Land and Water company, of Florida, is on a brief visit to this city, accompanied by his wife. His company operates branch offices in a number of western and eastern cities and before his return he will visit practically all of them. Within the next few weeks the company will open a branch office in this city.

The Hollywood Land and Water company were the builders of Hollywood, Cal., and are at present engaged in developing and building

Hollywood, Fla. This is destined to be a large sea-coast city. It is 15 miles north of Miami on the Dixie highway, has several miles of ocean frontage, as well as being on the inland canal. The property consists of 4,500 acres. The first lot in Hollywood, Fla., was sold in October, 1921, and since that time Mr. Nevin states that they have sold $1,500,000 worth of lots, the people living in Florida buying about half of this amount.

W. Trox Bankston, Candidate for Railroad Commissioner, Denounced by Fellow-Member of Committee, While in the Legislature—His Tie Vote Record

"Noticeable is the statement of Trox Bankston, candidate for Railroad commissioner, that while he was chairman of the Railroad Committee in the legislature, he often broke ties against the corporations. On the contrary, that was never the case. The railroad committee of that year, of which the writer was a member, had very few bills before it. Only about two of any importance. One of the bills was a bill introduced by Conger and Griffin, of Decatur, known as the minimum light bill. Rather known as the Savannah light bill. There was a hearing of the bill, a full and complete hearing. A most comprehensive hearing, full in every detail, and the vote was a tie all right, and Mr. Bankston broke the tie in favor of the bill. So far, so good, but Trox does not go on and tell the story. DID YOU KNOW that after that full hearing was had the very next day Mr. Bankston, the chairman of the Railroad Committee, called that committee back together and had another hearing on that bill and two members shifted their vote, and the bill was defeated in the committee? NOW, WHY was that committee called back together after a complete hearing was had at the first meeting? AND THAT VERY THING is the reason that this paper and this editor is opposing the candidacy of Trox Bankston today. Mr. Anderson, of Jenkins; Mr. Hollingsworth, of Screven; and Mr. Conger, of Decatur, will make this statement to any man that will ask them, for we four battled awful hard to get that bill through, and we would have done so had not Mr. Bankston called that committee for the second hearing after the first complete hearing was had. HAD he not done that, the bill would have passed. Mr. Conger and I endeavored then to get the House to ride over the report of the committee, and lacked only two votes, four, as I recall, of having the needed two-thirds to ride over the committee. Showing full and well that had Mr. Bankston not called that second hearing of that committee, we would have passed the bill. We did succeed, through a smooth piece of work that Mr. Conger deserves credit for, in getting the bill tacked on to an opposition bill, and killing them both. Mr. Bankston ought to have a better memory. We will bet a dollar almost that neither of the above men have forgotten his action on this, and neither of them will support Bankston."

"We wager that neither Mr. P. S. Cummings, of Lela, nor Mr. J. J. Cummings, of Savannah, have forgotten how Mr. Bankston broke ties in favor of the people, and if he ever broke any other tie during that year he was the only committeeman present at the hearing. I well know that Mr. Conger and I attended every meeting of that committee that year, and so did Mr. Hollingsworth and Mr. Anderson. We are a better memory. We will bet a dollar almost that neither of the above men have forgotten his action on this, and neither of them will support Bankston."

"This is about as sensible as any other claim of Bankston's. He may fool some folks as he did our good friend Rountree, of Wrightsville, about the legal advertising bill, but he will not fool people who know his statements as they are given out. Mr. Rountree knows better now. The above is a true statement of the action of the Railroad Committee of 1917 and 1918, what was known as the Savannah Lighting Bill."—Bainbridge Post-Searchlight, July 13th.

Georgia Women's Interest In Library Permissive Bill

The late Andrew Carnegie in the number of free libraries he established, has a close rival in the clubwomen of Georgia. It is a fact that most of the libraries Georgia boasts, even though they may be made up of them municipally owned and supported, were started by women's clubs, their value proved under these auspices, and then they were taken over by the city authorities.

Thus, women have a demonstrated interest in the library development of the state, and thus the women, as well as the men, who have shown their recognition by extending the work of the women, are intensely interested in house bill No. 734, which would empower counties to maintain and operate free public libraries.

Its present status, its provisions, and the future its passage opens up, are clearly and simply set forth by a professional librarian, Miss T. D. Barker, librarian of Carnegie library, as follows:

"The bill was introduced by Mr. Mason, of Hart county, chairman of the public library committee, and has been reported back to the house by the unanimous recommendation of the public library committee.

"The bill has now been put on the calendar by the rules committee and it is expected that its early passage will be assured.

"There are two main provisions in the bill:

"First. It empowers the board of commissioners of roads and revenue to enter into a contract with a municipality, already maintaining a free public library, whereby the privileges of such library can be extended to the county.

"Second. It empowers the board of commissioners of roads and revenue to enter into a contract with a municipality, already maintaining a free public library, whereby the privileges of such library can be extended to the county.

"The passage of this bill will open up the way for working out a program of library development for the whole state with the county as a unit of operation. In many of our counties there are no towns large enough to maintain a library so the only means of providing library facilities will be through the establishment of a county library system.

"In many other counties there already exist good municipal libraries and in these the provisions of this law a county can contract with such a library or libraries to extend its service to the entire county."

Date of Convention For Music Clubs Is Announced

The date for the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs to be held in Asheville, N. C., in 1923, has been set.

Miss Nan Stephens, chairman of program, has just returned from a visit to Asheville where she was in conference with the hostess music club and the members of the civic clubs, all of which are working together to make the convention the greatest this progressive body has known, and she is enthusiastic over the prospects.

"The time has been set for the week of June 10," says Miss Stephens. "Battery Park hotel will be general headquarters, Grove Park inn will be headquarters for the board of directors, and all of Asheville will make itself host to the meeting."

"The men and women in Asheville work together exceptionally well in the cause of music. The music club has its meetings Saturday afternoon through the summer, and the men as well as the women attend. Just now everybody is working to make the annual August music festival a success, but with this important project in the immediate future, the Asheville people are looking ahead, and the 1923 convention is going to put the south many stages forward in national recognition. The program will be of course have to be representative of the musical interests of the every section of the country, but the natural intensity of the convention's attention will be directed to the work of the south, and we shall be able to make a very creditable and maybe surprising showing."

"The Store of Dependability"

"Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

IN our show window this week is a most artistic conception of John Alden's visit to Pricilla to plead the cause of his good friend, Miles Standish. Had Miles made John the bearer of the beautiful Mesh Bag and Platinum pieces with which the window is embellished, it is more than doubtful if Pricilla would ever have asked, "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

If you have not seen this window we believe you will find it of sufficient interest to make worth while even a special trip downtown.

Governor Hardwick Monday named Miss Theresa Newton, of Madison, Ga., as the state's princess at the coronation ceremony at the Cotton Palace exposition, which will be held in Waco, October 31.

Miss Newton is the daughter of Mrs. W. T. Bacon, of Madison. She is a graduate of Agnes Scott college, and during the past year attended the Temple School for Girls in New York city. Each state will send a "princess" to the coronation.

ALBANY COUPLE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Albany, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—E. Rollins and his wife, of Albany, were seriously injured in an automobile accident late Sunday when Rollins lost control of the machine and ran it into a heavy concrete post which marks the line between Dougherty and Lee counties.

Rollins sustained internal injuries, in addition to a deep cut in his face, while Mrs. Rollins suffered a broken ankle and other injuries. Two other persons in the car escaped with a few minor bruises. The car was traveling rapidly when the driver lost control of it, and was badly damaged when it struck the sign post.

Mrs. Brantley's Tea For Visiting Matrons At Driving Club

The east veranda at the Piedmont Driving club assembled a congenial group of young married women yesterday as the guests of Mrs. A. P. Brantley, of Blackshear, to meet Mrs. Hudson Moore, of Denver, and Mrs. B. M. Bailey, of Fort Leavenworth, who are spending the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Davis.

There was a game of bridge, and afterwards a dainty repast was served, the tea table having picturesque setting in the flowering boxes that enclose the porch and afford a view over their gay blossoms of Piedmont park.

Mrs. Brantley's afternoon gown was of black lace. Her daughters, Mrs. James J. Ragan and Mrs. Lawrence Willet, receiving with her, wore graceful lace gowns, with picture hats trimmed with flowers.

Mrs. Hudson Moore was gown in blue beaded georgette with a smart blue taffeta hat.

Mrs. Bailey wore a rose taffeta with a lovely flower trimmed hat.

Best Efforts of Pens Of Noted Authors and Artists

A number of Atlantans who sailed on the Olympic, July 15, have experienced an unusual and desirable thrill. The party reached Southampton Friday night.

Cable advices received Saturday, July 22, by the International Mercantile Marine company, contained news of an unprecedented burst of speed by the Olympic while diagonally crossing the channels from Lands End to Cherbourg on Friday afternoon. After the ship passed Eddystone light and got into smooth water her speed began to pick up, and for a number of hours she made 27.36 knots an hour. Her best previous speed record was 23.53 knots an hour. She arrived at Cherbourg at 5:30 o'clock Friday, July 21.

The Olympic's new record exceeds the best speed made by the Majestic on her maiden voyage, which was an average of 27.10 for five hours. The record for the voyage from New York to Cherbourg is 25.14 knots average from port to port. That for the Atlantic is 26.06 knots average from New York to Queenstown.

The party, having taken cars with them in order to motor through England, Wales and France was met by Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Jones, Bannan Jones, and Harris Jones, and Dr. Garrett W. Quillian, who sailed on the Majestic July 8.

Those making up the party are Mr. and Mrs. St. Elmo Missengale, Margaret and St. Elmo Missengale, Jr., Miss Mary Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Murphy, Miss Catherine Murphy, Mrs. Lola Buchanan, Mrs. Noel F. Parks, of Greensboro, Ga., Miss Lila Ayer, Dean Thomas H. Johnston, Dr. George H. Noble, Henry Walker Bagley, from Greenville, S. C., are Mrs. James O. Lewis, Mrs. Frank Williams, and Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmerman.

HOW TO SAVE WHEN SHOPPING

By Ruth Lohr

Author of "The Human Side of Retail Selling," "The A B C of Retailing," Etc.

A great many housewives do not—or will not—realize that their shopping methods are keeping up the prices of food. Here are some simple suggestions outlined by experts, which will, in the long run, save you money.

When a store offers a special price on certain foods, order in as large quantities as your storage space will allow. You will save by taking advantage of this special saving. As Saturday is the busiest day of the week, do not give your largest order on that day. If you do you buy hurriedly and cannot take advantage of deliberate and careful buying. This holds true in shopping during rush hours. It pays every housewife to do her shopping during the day and before the rush hours.

Every economical housewife should make at least one trip a week to the store to keep in touch with the grocer and the market. Try to do away with the system (you pay for it in the long run) of having a man call for your market order. If the store telephones for your order have it ready. When you shop take a market list to save your time and that of the grocery clerk.

Every housewife can lessen the force of unnecessary competition by trading largely at one place which she has found to be reliable. This habit of transferring your patronage from store to store is unwise, because you will not get the attention, good will and better treatment that a steady customer of a reliable store gets and deserves.

As we're all interested in summer dresses these warm days, we will talk tomorrow about the wise selection of cotton materials.

The Shoe Polish Dauber.

An old shoe-polish dauber from a used bottle of polish is convenient in blacking the stove, as it will reach places impossible to the ordinary brush.

Wet a soft cloth with sweet milk and wipe off the leaves of your rubber plant with it. It will not only remove the dirt, but shine the leaves as well.

DRESS

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE

At the pleasure places in France women show such delight in their novelty blouses that they abandon the coat, an innovation that will catch the imagination of the American woman who must combat months of hot weather.

Paris has had two hot summers with little rain. Such a climatic condition is sufficient to inspire new fashions in a land which places faith in every single unusual occurrence to create something startlingly new.

Nothing is too crude in French history to inspire a blouse or a hat. A stupendous war begets a tunic, a famine begets a corset, a varied weather begets short skirts or cool fabrics. So it goes in that land of kaleidoscopic inspiration.

Over here we speed French clothes across our continent without knowing the episode that begot the idea. A recent editorial in a trade paper protests against the cluttering up of fashion news with fine groupings of words, with play of fancy, with bits of historical allusion and references to the sources from which fashion sprang. To those who write fashions this is a strange point of view. No Frenchwoman could subscribe to it, for all they do, and think, and say, in clothes is based on occurrence and gossip.

For instance, observe this sketch of a woman at a smart pleasure resort. She appears in her shirt sleeves. France has abandoned that inelegance ever since the tailored suit was invented by her Anglo-Saxon rivals. It was Paris that taught the Anglo-Saxon woman to retain her coat except in the intimacy of her home. It is rare for an American to appear in her shirt sleeves now, yet ten years ago she rebelled against the suggestion to keep on her coat. So much for the changes in established customs.

The reason for this reversal is that Paris has had experience with two American-like summers, blazing heat, high humidity, hot winds. So, what does she do? She removes her jacket en masse. She may lead the entire Anglo-Saxon sector of women to do the same. Observe how she does it. She goes back to Callo's old idea of putting a frill at the top of the skirt and a belt below the frill. Above this goes the plain, unlined crepe de chine blouse. It is of apple green and the skirt is of blue serge, knife-pleated, as

New sport suit worn at Deauville. Of blue serge and crepe de chine. The skirt of serge is finely knife-pleated, and the blouse is water green with a mannish vest.

French sport skirts are. In the blouse she puts a U-shaped masculine vest with little blue buttons and a blue satin ribbon at the collar. The cuffs are caught with blue buttons. She is cool and she establishes a new fashion. What more could one ask?

THE HOUSEHOLD

Edited by Anna Rittenhouse.

NOW HAIL THE CLAM FOR TOOTHSONENESS!

Clams are usable in so many ways that it is little wonder they are a favorite midsummer delicacy. Every shore-dinner place has some clam specialty, and so have many of the big city hotels that, in these days of motor travel, are more and more considered in the light of summer resorts. And the home cook can easily prepare clams in numberless toothsome ways. Here are some suggestions:

Clam Mousse.—To make a quart of the mousse you will require three or four dozen clams, according to size. Put them into a kettle with about a pint of cold water and cook until the shells open. Remove the clams, strain the liquor through a cloth and measure. To two and two-thirds cups clam juice allow one and one-third cups whipped cream; put the clam liquor in a freezer, season with celery salt to taste, and freeze to a mushlike consistency; stir in the whipped cream. Freeze five minutes longer, then serve or pack in ice and salt until needed.

Clam Chowder.—Butter a deep tin basin, strewn it thickly with grated breadcrumbs, or soaked crackers; sprinkle some pepper over and bits of butter the size of a hickory nut, and, if liked, some finely chopped parsley; then put a double layer of clams, season with pepper, puts bits of butter over, then another layer of soaked crackers; after that clams and bits of butter; sprinkle pepper over; add a cup of milk or water, and lastly a layer of soaked crackers. Turn a plate over the basin, and bake in a hot oven for three-quarters of an hour; in a half a pound of soda biscuit, and quarter of a pound of butter with fifty clams.

Clam Bisque.—One-quarter teaspoon extract of beef; twelve clams; two tablespoons of butter; two cups of milk; one slice of onion; one tablespoon of flour; two cups of water; salt and pepper to taste. Chop the clams fine and drain, saving the liquor. Brown the onion in one tablespoon of butter, add to the clam liquor, bring to a boil, strain and strain. Add the clams to the strained liquor and the extract dissolved in the water. Return to the fire and simmer five minutes. Seal the milk rub the butter and flour together until smooth, add the milk and cook until it thickens. Season the clams and the broth carefully, and when ready to serve, add the milk. Serve at once.

Savory Left-Overs.
Grind up the end of the roast and add a pinch of nutmeg, an onion, a pepper and a tomato. Mix into this a cup of cream sauce, sprinkle with bread-crumbs and bake.

Coffee Drying

This scene on a coffee plantation shows the care that must be taken in harvesting the crop.

The process of removing the pulp leaves the coffee wet and it must be carefully dried.

This is done, usually, by spreading it out on hard, smooth yards, as you see in the picture.

When a good variety of coffee has been grown and harvested under the best condition it remains for the coffee roaster in this country to do his part. If he does it well you get the full value and flavor of a delightful beverage.

If his work is poorly or indifferently done the coffee loses so much that you can hardly recognize its original quality.

With years of experience and the best equipment the McCord-Stewart Company of Atlanta is able to put on the market in sustained excellence so fine an article as

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.—(adv.)

Who's Who in the Story.

DIANA LANGLEY, who possesses to a superlative degree a quality of "blue" which is not shared by her younger sister, MARJORIE LANGLEY, herself a noted beauty, is a wealthy bachelor, has been devoted for years, impulsively declares her love for Dale and on being told that he can never marry because of a trace of insanity in his family, to scotch her pride elopes with him, and, at the same time that she is making a second escape, she is rescued by

ALEX LEIGH, a young navy officer, at the same time that she is making a second escape, she is rescued by DR. MAXWELL BORDEN, a former noted New York physician. He and his sister, CYNTHIA BORDEN, are people with a mysterious past in which Stephen Dale and his late uncle are somehow involved. Borden falls in love with Diana and becomes alarmed at the insistence of the Spaniard, takes her to San Francisco and, when he learns that her husband has disappeared from his navy post without leave, he searches for him. Sylvia is divorcing Ted because of his concern over her. She is the woman who married Marjorie is displaced at Dale for some reason.

A confession of love for Diana escapes Dale.

INSTALLMENT NO. 74.

To Dale's relief, "I love you," Diana made no reply.

She was incapable of speech at that moment. Though she had felt in her heart that Dale loved her, the day he had cancelled his yachting trip to see her off to California, she had never expected him to tell her so. The joy that swept through her at his confession was immeasurable.

But still she said nothing and he went on quietly:

"I have no right to tell you so. You are married to another man. But even if you were free, I could not ask you to marry me. I told you why I can not."

"If I had the right," she broke off and turned away.

Still not moving from her position across the room, Diana said softly:

"It makes me very happy for you to tell me anyway. But, Steve, are you sure it's not just because I told you that I loved you that day at the Borden's house party? Are you sure you're not just doing this to ease my pride, to—"

He swung around and faced her across the breadth of Marjorie's little sitting room.

"Look at me! Do you think you can read my eyes and then doubt me? Little sweetheart, I think I must have loved you always. But you were only a child to me before that June day. I am almost old enough to be your father, and you—why were little Diana in pinafores. From the moment that I—kissed you—I knew that it was you whom I had been waiting for all these years."

Diana's hands went out to him, but before he could cross the intervening space, the door behind him opened.

"Steve!" Marjorie's voice was sharply incredulous. "where on earth did you drop from? And what are you doing here, alone with Diana?"

Dale swung around easily and held out his hand.

"Just in from New Mexico and leaving for the east tonight. Give a cheer for me, Marjorie! You look as though you took me for a burglar!"

Marjorie ignored the hand.

"Well," she remarked with something that sounded suspiciously like a sniff, "from the looks of the scene as I came in the door, you might be accused of trying to steal somebody's wife."

"Marjorie!" said Diana.

Dale's brows raised, but he said nothing.

PAINS SO BAD WOULD GO TO BED

Two Women Tell How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Stopped Their Suffering

Iron Mountain, Mich.—"I had terrible pains every month and at times had to go to bed on account of them. I saw your advertisement and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with very good results. I can work all day long now at my school time. You will surely use these facts as a testimonial and I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. A. H. GARLAND, 218 E. Brown St., Iron Mountain, Mich.

Xenia, Ohio.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of my abdomen that I could not lie quietly in bed. I suffered for about five years that way and was not regular either. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women, so I decided to try it. It surely has helped me a lot, as I have no pains now and am regular and feeling fine."—Mrs. MARY DALE, Route 7, Xenia, Ohio.

If you suffer as did Mrs. Garland or Mrs. Dale, you should give this well-known medicine a thorough trial.

and we'll go together on that long cruise."

The silence was appalling. Diana, stealing a frightened look at Dale, found him uncomfortably flushed and the old tragic weariness which had gone from his eyes more than once during his conversations with her had returned, intensified.

Her heart ached for him, and at the same time, anger against Marjorie flared in her breast.

How dared Marjorie inform him in that suave patronizing way that she would marry him after he had danced attendance on her all these years! How dared she, in such high-handed manner, believe that she had only to stoop to pick up the prize which had lain at her feet while she played with time!

Diana was fiercely glad that the prize was hers, that the love which Marjorie had confidently expected would be waiting for her when she chose to call for it, had repudiated its former allegiance.

She opened the door noiselessly and slipped out in the corridor.

Her action seemed to bring Dale to life.

As she closed the door, softly, she heard him say:

"Marjorie, when I asked you to marry me many years ago, I did you a great injustice. I did not know what I later came to find out. There is a reason why I may never marry."

Another fine installment of this story tomorrow.

HUSBAND AND WIFE

"I must. I have a mission to perform before I sail and the captain of my yacht has orders to pick me up a week from tomorrow."

Marjorie's mouth opened ludicrously.

"You mean you are going off on another of those ridiculous trips?"

He inclined his head.

"For how long?"

"For how long?"

He shrugged.

"A year, two years—perhaps five; who knows? I am one of life's wanderers. There is nothing to hold me to any port."

Marjorie moved closer.

"Nothing," she asked softly.

Diana moved toward the door.

"If this is going to be a tender scene, let me get out," she laughed.

"Wait!" commanded Marjorie. "You might as well hear what I am going to say to Steve."

"I've come to my senses a good deal in the last few months. Steve. I have begun to realize that I've been unfair to you all these years. I've kept you dancing at the end of a string while I played. Not long ago, I had a brief glimpse into my own heart. . . . I'm tired of playing, Steve. I'll marry you!"

My husband has been hunting all over the house for one of his sleeve holders, and I find he has two on the same arm—Mrs. S. H. L.

AT WOMAN'S WINDOW

BY W. L. GEORGE

There is an Asiatic tribe, whose name I have forgotten, where men in their prayers render thanks that they were not born women. No doubt many women will sympathize (evidently) with their gladness, for indeed it is a troublesome job to be a woman. So much is expected of one, for one is expected to endure, while men are so much more expected to do. It is much easier for the man, because the thing he does he can perhaps do differently, while the thing the woman endures is a thing laid upon her which she cannot very well escape. All the same I cannot help thinking that women often worry too much over the burdens laid upon them by life.

There are many women who keep themselves in a continual state of worry; they think that the store will not send the groceries, that their husband is unduly attentive to one of their friends; that the children are sure to catch chickenpox; that if the roof does not leak it will leak next week. We all know that sort of woman, and the worried frown which hangs between her eyes. She is always preoccupied, always in a hurry, always overlaid. Her conversation is solely devoted to the things that worry her, so much so, that she has no time for the things that worry other people, and that she becomes unpopular. I am no Utopian. I realize that we cannot escape worries, but there is a way of handling them and that is to reduce the psychological effect which they have upon our minds by doubting them. A woman who worries, and who, by doing so puts years on to her age and wrinkles on to her face, can escape if she will only cultivate a method of thought which we may call doubt and adjournment. If anything troubles her she can say to herself: "I'll think of it tomorrow." Or: "Does it really matter?" A single question such as this reduces the weight and by degrees a new habit of mind can form.

As she closed the door, softly, she heard him say:

"Marjorie, when I asked you to marry me many years ago, I did you a great injustice. I did not know what I later came to find out. There is a reason why I may never marry."

Another fine installment of this story tomorrow.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

DON'T HATE ME YET.

It's not pleasant to know that there are people who are regarding one as a disliking, hateful old thing, is it? You wouldn't like to know that there were people who felt that way toward you through no real fault of yours, even if they were people you never met and who had no particular effect on your life, would you? Well, neither do I.

And yet it is something I seem to be condemned to.

A New Enemy.

For every time I get a letter asking me to discuss some personal problem in this column which for one reason or another I would rather not write on, and I find that the writer says that he will eagerly watch the column for the article and then signs instead of his name "Interested Reader," or some similar nom de plume. I know I have made a new enemy. Maybe sometimes we shall learn to use air waves such as those that make wireless possible to send messages direct from mind to mind.

When that day comes I shall hold the letter in my hand and wireless to my unknown correspondent this message: "I cannot write about this in my column, but if you will send me your real name and address I will write you a personal letter." ("Silly," says my second thought, "why don't you wireless what you would say in that letter? Why, indeed?")

Your Name Is Safe.

Yesterday I had a letter in which the correspondent asked me to use her personal problem as a topic for an article and at the same time asked me to regard everything she said as strictly confidential. I wonder how on earth she expected to recognize the article if I did not refer to anything she had written?

I can always be depended upon to keep people's secrets when they ask me to but I cannot at the same time discuss them in the column. Do not be afraid to sign your name. I will never use it in the column. I wouldn't be allowed to if I wanted to. And then if I do prefer to write you a personal letter I can do it. And please sign it clearly if you do

DAWN BREAKS DEMPSEY BOUT FOR WILSON LABOR DAY

Boston, July 24.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, and Marty Killian, his manager, today were reinstated by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission.

Wilson and his manager were suspended in Massachusetts January 5, following the action of the New York Boxing Commission in suspending the two when Wilson refused to meet Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, in New York after they had signed a contract for the bout. Killian said he signed the contract in order to obtain Wilson's share of the proceeds of the fight. Wilson refused to sign the contract because it was illegal, because it was signed under duress and violated the rules of the New York boxing commission in certain prizes concerning the posting of a guarantee.

As soon as the decision was announced Wilson announced a challenge to Greb for a bout in this state.

WILLARD REACHES HARD TRAINING STAGE

Los Angeles, July 24.—Jess Willard's preliminary training for the proposed bout with Jack Dempsey is over, according to Gene Doyle, Willard's local representative. Today the challenger enters on the hard grueling training which will lead to the heavyweight boxing championship. Willard has taken on his second training partner, a heavyweight, and plans this week to add some fast middleweight for additional exercise.

Fort McPherson Wins.
Fort McPherson defeated the Marshall nine yesterday afternoon at the Fort in a slow game by the score of 7 to 3. The game was featured by the pitching of Tregger for the soldiers. He struck out 10 men.

Giants Split Bill.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 24.—New York and Pittsburg split a double-header here today, the Pirates winning the first 3 to 2, while the Giants took the second 11 to 4.

Cooper was master in the first game, keeping the Giants' hits scattered. The visitors pounded four pitchers in the final game for 13 hits, carrying a home run with one on.

DILLON WINS FEATURE PACE

Columbus, Ohio, July 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The opening day's racing of the mid-summer Grand Circuit meeting here this afternoon was featured by the splendid performance of Margaret Dillon in winning the Elks Home 2:04 pace and by the consistent work of original favorites in two of the three other events.

Margaret Dillon won the Elks stake in straight heats, her average time being 2:01 1/4 for each mile and equalling her world's record performance at Toledo two weeks ago when she paced the three fastest heats ever paced by a mare in a race.

Grace Direct was the pool favorite to win with Margaret Dillon barred. Esta G. was easily mistress of her field in the 2:18 pace. Low Tide, another favorite also disposed of the 2:17 trotters. The fourth event, the 2:12 trot, saw Princess Etawah, a first choice, beaten by Barron Worthy.

Summaries: 2:18 class pace, three heats, purse $1,000: Esta G. 6 m. (Morrison) 1 1 1; Laura Forbes 6 m. (Jump) 2 2 2; Steve O Boy, b. g. (Slaight) (Valentine) 4 3 4; Larkspur, b. g. Rheumatism at 60

S. S. S. Thoroughly Rids the Body of Rheumatism Impurities.
Somebody's mother is suffering tonight! The scourge of rheumatism has wrecked her body; limping and suffering, bent forward, she sees but the common ground, but her aged heart still belongs to the stars! Does anybody care? S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-purifiers known, and it helps build more blood cells. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable. It is, in fact, a splendid tonic, a blood maker, a blood enricher. It banishes rheumatism from joints, muscles and the entire body. It builds firm flesh. It is what somebody's mother needs tonight! Mother, if you can not go out to get a bottle of S. S. S. yourself, surely somebody in your family will. Somebody, get a bottle of S. S. S. now! Let somebody's mother begin to feel joyful again tonight. Mark, maybe it's your mother! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

How glorious you will feel, mother, when your rheumatism is all gone. Let S. S. S. do it. It will build you up, too!

The Wear Is In A Roof—Not On It

The service you get from asphalt roofing depends on the toughness and durability of the impregnated felt that gives it body and strength. A roof doesn't wear down; it wears out.

Long life is built into Flex-A-Tile Roofing, FELT FIRST. Felt-making is an art in itself—an art that more than 50 years of Richardson experience has reduced to a science.

In Flex-A-Tile Shingle Roll Roofing you get the very best grade of slate-surface roll roofing with an unusual added feature—the appearance of individual Giant Shingles, molded on. Shingle Roll gives the beauty of an asphalt shingle roof at less than half its cost.

FLEX-A-TILE HOUSE TOPS

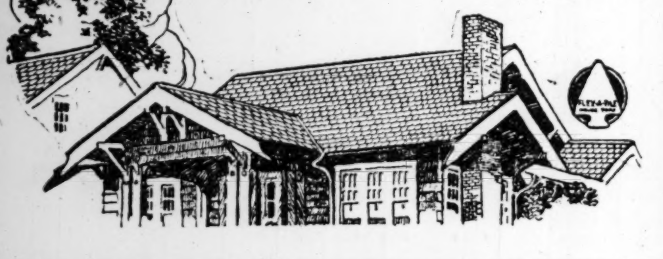

The double coating of crushed slate from our own quarries at Flex-A-Tile, Georgia, furnishes a rich coloring of natural green (or red if you prefer), adds to the looks of the roof and carries the approval of the Fire Underwriters Laboratories as a fire-resisting roof covering.

Flex-A-Tile Shingle Roll Roofing can be laid right over old wood shingles by anyone who is handy with tools. It lies flat and stays flat.

BUDD AND HERRING READY FOR STRUGGLE TONIGHT

Carr, Barnett and Others
Will Show In Prelims;
8:30 O'Clock Start Time

Herring Confident of Knocking Out Budd.
Budd Prepared to Stop March of Ferns' Conqueror.

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY.

Battling Budd isn't the type fighter that boasts of his pugilistic prowess. This reporter has suspected this for a long time, but it never was definitely settled yesterday when he tried to force the matter into some kind of statement having to do with just how far Mr. Budd proposed to knock "Rebel Red" Herring in their ten rounds of stuf-fighting as the headline attraction on the American Legion's boxing card tonight at Ponce de Leon park.

Budd is modest, despite the fact that he ought to realize by this time that whenever a fighter becomes too rough and tough for other southern boxers, the Atlanta is called in to halt the march of triumph and to rise to a point of privilege to argue that he usually turns the trick.

There was "Red" MacLachlin—you remember the "Scotch Terror," of course. "Red" had just finished two fights with Jake Abel, who was barely able to hold his own with the visitor and none of the other Dixie welters wanted anything to do with MacLachlin.

BUDD ASKED FOR BOUT.
Walk Miller developed a keen desire to have one of his boys take the measure of the "Terror," but he couldn't place his fingers on a prospect until Budd casually mentioned one day that he'd like to swap punches with MacLachlin.

It looked like suicide and Miller wasn't keen to sign the articles, but he finally did. The result was that Budd soundly laced the Scotchman at his own game and hasn't been troubled with applications for further hostilities from the Saginaw puncher.

And tonight Budd will fight "Rebel Red" Herring, not because Manager Miller was keen to run his star welterweight into trouble, but because Budd asked for the fight and is as confident of stopping Herring as he was of handling MacLachlin that very unexpected licking at Ponce de Leon weeks ago.

Budd requested that he be given a crutch at Herring the same night the "Rebel" won on a foul against "Fearless" Ferns, after having knocked Ferns to the floor, where one of the Atlanta's seconds threw water in on the prostrate form of his idol.

The action probably saved Ferns a knockout, but Herring is convinced that even water won't be able to revive Budd tonight, once that fight hand has landed on the correct spot.

"I have hit tougher men than Budd and they've gone down," Herring says, "and I've been hit by harder punchers than Budd, so I don't see what I have to worry about." Mr. Herring apparently declines to see the light and we've always thought of Budd as a sort of crusader in the boxing profession.

Frankly, this correspondent firmly believes that Budd and Herring will give the customers one of the best fights they have witnessed this year and there is no question about there having been a number of rattling good battles since the American Legion took charge of affairs.

LITTLE EDGE FOR EITHER GHTER.

There is little edge in experience. Both have been in the game long enough to know it thoroughly. Both can hit, as proven by the string of knockouts, many of which were scored against the best boys in the south. Neither is a defensive fighter. It should be a tearing-in struggle from the start and this variety of fighting invariably pleases fans locally.

That there will be plenty of fighting in the preliminaries is shown by the fact that such men as "Arnet," Young, Jackie Carr and others are billed to appear. It's been some weeks since Barnett fought on a local card, but he has always enjoyed a good following. He is billed to go six rounds with Cy Young, a boxing hand uncovered by Billy Loiz.

At the last moment the battle between Jack Denham and Ted Sanders was called off.

Jackie Carr, the Fourth ward tough boy, noted around Atlanta for his ability to absorb punishment, will be pitted against Battling Kennedy and trouble is certain to ensue. Kid Carver and Joe Mexico will be an added attraction.

Tickets will be on sale at the ball park, but if you want to avoid standing in line, the ducks may be had at the following downtown establishments: Julian, Prade's Sporting Goods Co.; the Rex poolroom and Chess Place. The fights will get underway promptly at 8:30 o'clock and ladies will be admitted free of charge. Boys in knee-pants can gain admittance for half price.

FRANK KRAMER RETIRES AS RIDER

Newark, N. J., July 24.—Frank L. Kramer, champion professional bicyclist, today announced his retirement from the bicycle racing game. He has been an active participant in bicycle racing for 27 years, 22 of which he has ridden as a professional.

President R. J. Spiller, of the Atlanta Crackers, has been trying to locate Roy (Dizy) Carlyle who tried out with the Crackers at Bay St. Louis this spring and who has been playing semi-professional ball in different places in Georgia this season. He has solicited the aid of this standard southern newspaper in trying to locate this player.

Spiller is anxious to get in touch with Carlyle with a proposition that will no doubt bring him back to the Crackers. Carlyle made quite an impression with the local management in the training camp but was released at his own request on account of a bad leg he got in the Georgia State League last season.

President Spiller would like to have Carlyle write or phone him in Atlanta to discuss terms and conditions as soon as possible.

ROUSH BACK IN HARNESS

Crackers Prop Opening Game in Vol Series, 6-5

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 24.—Eddie Roush, four-months bolotout field outfielder, appeared on Redland field yesterday afternoon in a brand new uniform, about the fifth inning, Manager Moran sending him to the first base coaching line where he was quickly recognized by the thousands of fans. Although not on the field to take part in the Giant-Red game, Roush's appearance was sufficient announcement to the crowd that he had reached an agreement with President Hermann.

Roush's agreement with the club covers only this year, and the contract which he signs today will extend to October 1. Commissioner Landis last week re-informed Roush that the latter immediately informed friends that under no circumstances would he sign a Red contract for less than $18,000 yearly for three years. On the other hand, President Hermann, after conferring with the club's board of directors, was emphatic in declaring that the club's offer would stand at $15,000 yearly. Roush yesterday again conferred with directors of the club separately at the ball grounds and finally went into conference with President Hermann and the directors.

After an hour's session an agreement was reached to sign a contract for the remaining two months' season, apparently "satisfactory" all around. Roush immediately told Moran he was in perfect condition and ready to play. Neither Roush nor President Hermann would make any statement as to the money, but the general belief is that Roush accepted the club's offer covering this season.

CARLYLE WANTED BY CRACKER PREXY

President R. J. Spiller, of the Atlanta Crackers, has been trying to locate Roy (Dizy) Carlyle who tried out with the Crackers at Bay St. Louis this spring and who has been playing semi-professional ball in different places in Georgia this season. He has solicited the aid of this standard southern newspaper in trying to locate this player.

Spiller is anxious to get in touch with Carlyle with a proposition that will no doubt bring him back to the Crackers. Carlyle made quite an impression with the local management in the training camp but was released at his own request on account of a bad leg he got in the Georgia State League last season.

President Spiller would like to have Carlyle write or phone him in Atlanta to discuss terms and conditions as soon as possible.

HARDING EXPECTED TO GET COAL STRIKE

England's Shipments Are Too Small to Help; Shopmen Believed to Have Lost Strike

BY R. L. BARNUM, Constitution's Financial Correspondent.

New York, July 24.—There was an irregular opening of the stock market this morning, after which selling started which caught a number of stop loss orders with the result that sharp declines were reported in Studebaker, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, the oil stocks, Chandler and Pierce-Arrow.

Only 3,600,000 tons of soft coal were produced last week, according to today's government figures. This compares with 4,114,000 tons a week ago, 5,300,000 tons during the week of July 1921, and 5,280,000 tons for the week of July 22 last year and 11,500,000 for the same week of 1920. Thus it can be seen that the coal strike situation is growing serious and has already brought about a situation which will take time to correct.

There was a lot of talk today of coal being rushed here and to Philadelphia from England. It is understood that the shipping board has arranged for twelve of its vessels to get into this business at once and that the number of foreign ships carrying coal from England here is steadily increasing. However, all the British coal that will be shipped here will not amount to more than a drop in the bucket compared with our needs for the coming months. Hence it is reasonable to expect that President Harding will do something about the coal strike probably before the end of this week. It is pretty well understood here that the railroad strike will be allowed to drift along. The men lost their fight on July 4 when it was shown that they could not tie up traffic.

Ogle Plan Favored.

Favorable comment was heard in Wall street today of the plan proposed by A. M. Ogle, president of the National Coal association, to President Harding for a coal commission which would have the advice and assistance of coal operators and miners but would be made up of outside interests. One of our big bankers here in discussing the Ogle telegram pointed out that lawyers and witnesses argued and testified before a judge but that when the judge got ready to make a decision he did not call in the lawyers and principals to help him make up his mind.

Pennsylvania railroad stocks for the fourth consecutive month a decrease in the number of shareholders outstanding, the figures at the end of June being 133,825. This is a decrease of 445 for the month and a decrease of 2,093 since March when a new high record was established at 141,921.

Much interest is being shown in the railway earnings for June expected this week. There is special interest in Pennsylvania with this company one of those expected to resume its old dividend rate in the near future. In discussing Pennsylvania today a large Broadway stock exchange firm in its circular said: "It would be interesting to know whether its 76,000 shares of Pacific oil have been sold." Pennsylvania bought this stock as a shareholder of Southern Pacific, exercising its right to acquire all of the 76,000 shares owned on December 31 last, according to the last annual report. Around present prices Pennsylvania has a profit of $41 a share. It would not be surprising if the next annual report showed that some or all of this stock sold. There was a great market for Pacific oil on this year's advance from 44 3/4 to 69 3/8 made on May 4. It looked at the time like Pennsylvania might have hired Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to make a market in Pacific oil in which to unload, as has been done on other occasions when the decision was reached to get rid of treasury stock. When Pacific oil was selling close to 70 one of the prominent officials of Southern Pacific is known to have sold his which was purchased in the 20's.

Dividend Declared.

United Cigar Stores declared a dividend today of 2 per cent. This is the first payment since last November when 2 per cent was paid. The company did not have any regular dividend policy last year but made payments of 1 or 2 per cent a month with a decline around midday. There was a decline of 13 1/2 per cent.

Earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the June quarter and the half year were given out this morning after the close of the stock exchange.

One shipment of $3,500,000 gold from London has just arrived here and it is believed that a statement had just been made in parliament explaining that the gold being sent to us was to meet England's dollar requirements here, particularly the approaching interest payment owed by Great Britain to our government in connection with the war debts. The best information obtainable in banking circles here is that considerable more gold should be expected from England before this movement ends.

One of the largest stock exchange houses here with branches at Boston, Springfield, Portland and elsewhere in the United States, has the most important developments of last week was the cut in the crude oil prices and in the prices of the American dollar requirements here, particularly the approaching interest payment owed by Great Britain to our government in connection with the war debts. The best information obtainable in banking circles here is that considerable more gold should be expected from England before this movement ends.

It is added that any further movement of rising prices would only result in demoralizing the market.

Shareholders Charge. General Motors shows the same changes in the number of shareholders of cotton stock as has recently been reported by the United States Steel corporation and the Pennsylvania railroad. That is, the number has declined indicating that with the turn for the better in the company's position liquidation of stock has been started and accumulation has started. Today's information shows that at the end of the second quarter of 1922 there were 3,338 holders of the 6 per cent preferred shares against 3,305 three months ago; 9,819 holders of the 6 per cent debenture stock against 9,803 at the end of the March quarter; 8,451 holders of the 7 per cent debenture stock against 8,740, and only 49,725 holders of the common stock against 50,591 three months ago. The earnings published last week for the half year showed that those who were buying the common stock, probably insiders, knew what they were doing.

There are two kinds of investments—the kind you have to watch constantly to prevent loss, and the kind you put away and forget about. The latter class may be well described as "strong-box investments."

Miller First Mortgage Bonds belong to this class. Because every detail is carefully looked after by both before and after you invest, these bonds are the kind that never cause you any worry. New York, July 24.—Pressure was exerted against the cotton market with such force today that prices sustained a decline of from 45 to 54 points under the close of Saturday at one time, with prices falling at 21.25 and 21.30, the market finally rallied a little on the idea that Liverpool would not match the decline here and final prices of the day were 40 to 50 points lower.

Steadiness was a feature at the opening when prices showed general advances of 3 to 14 points. Cables were better than here, and a considerable local covering in the market and both Liverpool and New Orleans interests bought on reports of hot weather in the south and a possible change in the number of bullish crop reports that came from the cotton belt.

At one stage of the session considerable selling arose from the forecast of showers for continued hot and dry weather in Texas and to too much rain in central and eastern sections of the belt. There were also complaints of deterioration. These accounts carried prices 19 to 24 points higher than Saturday's last quotations, but after the issuance of reports of showers for continued hot and dry weather in Texas and to too much rain in central and eastern sections of the belt, prices showed net losses on the day of 46 to 50 points, October closing at 20.85.

Chicago, July 24.—With the new winter crop being offered in great volume and with speculative buying nearly non-existent, wheat underwent a decided fall in value today, September and December $1.00 to $1.01, and Corn 1-4 to 1-3, and oats 1-4 to 1-3.

Primary receipts of wheat today totaling 3,450,000 bushels, appeared to be a burden for the merchandising trade, and the lowest demand from export interests was far from being sufficient to offset hedging pressure. Enough buying on the part of shorts developed, however, to help cause a fair recovery from the day's lowest.

Export purchasing of wheat was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels. On the other hand, arrivals of wheat in Chicago today amounted to 600 cars, Kansas City had 921 cars, and St. Louis had 474, all showing large increases over arrivals a week ago.

Corn and oats also were depressed by large receipts and like wheat, seemed to new low record prices for the season.

FRED DISMUIKE ASKS POSTMASTER'S JOB

Confirmation of dispatches from Thomasville that he had applied for the postmaster's job of that city was made Monday by Fred D. Dismuke, federal prohibition director for Georgia.

The vacancy occurs at that office on September 26. The prohibition official is preparing to take the necessary civil service examination next week. Two other republicans and three democrats are said to be applicants for the position.

"My family lives in Thomasville, and if I accepted the postmaster's job there I would be able to live with them instead of being separated from them, as at present," he said Monday.

A letter to Mr. Dismuke from Jesse E. Mercer, representative of the Georgia League for Law Enforcement Through Constituted Authorities, in which Mr. Mercer, served as a former prohibition agent, commends the record of the director, was made public Monday.

"I, at first, regarded your appointment as a probable mistake," the letter stated, "but I have learned from close scrutiny of your program and study of what you have accomplished that your appointment was a most fortunate one." Mr. Mercer stated that he felt the resignation of Mr. Dismuke would be unfortunate.

Alleged Abductor Of Girl Is Found In Macon Hospital

Macon, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) L. R. Staton, marshal of Barbersville, W. Va., who shot and seriously wounded William Mitchell, alias J. C. Lucas, charged with abduction, burglary, attempt at murder and riding freight trains, arrived in Macon today to find his man a prisoner at the Macon hospital, awaiting an operation. Tonight it was determined not to operate, but to return Mitchell to West Virginia.

Mitchell, Staton said, escaped from him shortly after he was captured in Barbersville, was captured at the home of the physician who dressed his wounds, and escaped from the general hospital in Huntington five days later.

According to Mitchell's story, he beat his way through the country on freight trains and in automobiles until he became exhausted seven miles from Macon and was taken to the Macon hospital. He claimed he had been shot by his best friend, and that he had left West Virginia to keep his friend out of trouble.

Staton said today that he had arrested Mitchell on the night of July 9, after word had been received that he had abducted Virginia Racey, a young woman from Logan, W. Va. Staton said he was walking alongside a standing freight train and heard a woman crying.

He discovered the woman and Mitchell on a carload of slag and ordered them down. As the trio were walking up the track, Mitchell suddenly wheeled and attacked Staton, according to the officer.

Staton says he was thrown to the ground and beaten, Mitchell shooting at him both times, but missing. Staton then shot twice, both bullets taking effect, but Mitchell made his escape.

In the Huntington hospital, after his capture, Mitchell effected another escape, Staton said, and he is thought to have had the aid of an influential coal operator, who seemed to be friendly to Staton. Armed with requisition papers, Staton said today he is prepared to stay in Macon until Mitchell is able to travel, and will guard the prisoner until he recovers.

TO ELECT SHERIFF IN COWETA COUNTY

Newnan, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) A special election will be held here August 5 to fill the sheriff's office of Coweta county. This vacancy was made by the death of Sheriff Brewster.

Five candidates have announced, and on account of the prominence of all the candidates, a great deal of interest is felt. The candidates are E. C. Goetz, S. V. Reynolds, and C. E. Askew, of Newnan; W. J. Telford, of Roscoe, and B. L. Banks, of Senoia.

ACTIVE SPINDLES IN GEORGIA MILLS FOR JUNE GIVEN

Washington, July 24.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—There were 5,041,160 active cotton spindles in the state of Georgia during the month of June just past against a total of 2,680,051 in place in the state, the department of commerce announced today.

For the month, the department figured there were 658,338,285 active spindles hours on spindles located in Georgia, or an average of 245 hours for each spindle in place. The figures compared favorably with the activity of cotton mills throughout the country.

ACCUSED WHITE BOY SOUGHT IN AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., July 24.—North Augusta authorities, assisted by several citizens, were this afternoon searching for a white boy who is said to have assaulted an 8-year-old negro girl earlier in the day. The alleged crime is said to have occurred on the Hampton Terrace golf links. The attack was reported by a little brother of the girl, who said he thought he recognized the white boy but was not certain as to his name.

Grand Jury Called After Mob Lynchings Girl's Assailant

Order for Extraordinary Session Issued When Negro's Body Is Found Riddled.

Moultrie, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) Judge W. E. Thomas, of the Southern circuit, tonight issued an order convening the grand jury into extraordinary session tomorrow morning in connection with the lynching today in Moultrie, a negro charged with attempting to criminally assault a young white girl near Ellenston late Sunday.

At the same time he directed the solicitor-general and the sheriff's office to do all in their power to aid in the grand jury in its investigations. Anderson, who was arrested at Ellenston, was brought to Moultrie Monday morning by a party of three men. They drove directly to the jail, but court being in session, the sheriff and his deputies were otherwise engaged and there was no one at the prison to receive the prisoner.

Two of the men in charge of the accused man got out of the car to search for the sheriff. It was not a minute or so before an unidentified man jumped into the machine where the negro was left guarded by a man whose name has not been learned.

The sheriff and deputies made a vain pursuit. The negro was carried to a point about 10 miles from Moultrie, where he was taken to a corporation building. It all happened so quickly and quietly that the negro had been brought here and carried away before a person in town knew anything about any of the proceedings.

Officers from Moultrie, including the sheriff gave pursuit, but the man carrying the negro on his death had too great a lead and it was not overtaken. Persons on their way to Moultrie met the machine carrying the negro, but they said they were going at such a terrific speed they were unable to recognize any of its occupants.

While it is believed that only a small mob had any direct connection with the lynching, hundreds of people hurried to the scene as soon as news that Anderson had been put to death became known.

Anderson confessed before the men in charge of him reached Moultrie. The girl was on her way home after a visit to neighbors when the negro attempted his attack. She screamed and her assailant fled.

It was late Sunday night before she was able to give an accurate description of the negro. Three suspects were carried to the home Monday morning, including Anderson. She pointed him out and faintly, "I am being revived," she said, "I am certain he was the right man. The other two negroes were released."

It is considered certain here that the man who drove the automobile which carried Anderson to his doom followed the machine to Moultrie from Ellenston and that when he saw two of the men in charge of the negro get out and that he saw duty, he seized the opportunity to hurry the negro back toward the scene of the crime.

WOMAN AND TWO MEN HELD FOR ROBBERY

Summersville, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Charged with having stolen a Temple automobile from the Rev. Will Bond, of Atlanta, on the night of July 16, driving it to Lenoir, the following night and robbing the store of J. L. Pollock & Bro., of that place, a quantity of clothing, shoes, knives, canned goods, etc., and being forced to leave the automobile by the roadside three miles below Lenoir, when the gasoline feed pipe became clogged, taking to the mountain by foot and later trailed for several miles by bloodhounds, Robert Green and Reynolds and a woman, giving her name as Mary Carter were arrested late Saturday night in Cherokee county, Alabama, on Lookout mountain, after having stolen a Ford automobile from Joe Hill and Leonard Lawrence, at Blanche, Ala. They were lodged in the Cherokee county jail at Centre Sunday morning.

Green and Reynolds had only recently completed a sentence of 10 years for burglarizing the store of Holland Bros., at Holland, Ga. The Carter woman was said to be from Columbus, Ga. Green and Reynolds claim the woman had nothing to do with the thefts of the automobiles nor the breaking into the store at Lenoir.

LEAGUE APPROVAL GIVEN MANDATES

London, July 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The mandates created under the peace treaties were given final seal of approval by the council of the league of nations at its last sitting this afternoon.

M. Viviani, of France, referred to the council's action as a solemn and important accomplishment for the league and one full of significance and historic interest.

The earl of Balfour outlined Great Britain's future policy in Palestine, which he said would be one of strict impartiality and justice, in which all traditional rights, sentiments and religious feelings of the different races in Palestine would be held inviolate. He predicted great material prosperity, rapid advancement and fuller privileges for the Arabs and others under the new regime.

He was confident that the establishment of a Jewish national home, which had been acclaimed in America, in Europe, and not be antagonistic to or incompatible with their interests.
